Bellefonte Republican.

By EDWARD T. TUTEN.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.—No communication published unless accompanied by the real name of the writer.

Correspondents should write upon but one side of the paper, and avoid the use of pale or fancy inks.

EDITORIAL BRIEFS.

PATTISON says there will be no extra session.

SPEAKER CARLISLE is reported to be very ill.

PROF. CHARLES KENDALL ADAMS is the new president of Cornell University.

KING THEEBAW, of Burmah, has 500 wives. Yet he goes to war with a foreign power!

FRED KURTZ continues be greatly disturbed because there are so many newspapers in Bellefonte.

THE Jewish church in America has recently been holding an interesting conference in Cincinnati.

A NEW YORK woman saw a ghost the other day which caused her to fall down stairs and hurt herself severely.

THE Mormons are leaving the South and going to Utah. Some of them are also leaving Utah and going to jail.

IT is reported that the friends of the recently hanged Revolutionist Riel have presented a house to his widow.

AGAIN we say, let the separate funds for Grant Monuments be united and build one that will be really creditable

OUT in Indianapolis, Ind., a young man eloped with his step-mother, who was his father's fourth wife. Serves the old man right.

CHARLES STUART PARNELL, the Irish agitator, is soon to pay a visit to this country. He will be tendered a rousing reception.

VESUVIUS is again in a state of eruption. Vesuvius apparently still labors under the impression that Keily is going to be minister to Italy.

THE war between Servia and Bulgaria is exceedingly satisfactory to both parties, as both are successful, according to their respective bulletins.

THE Servians thought they were going to march right through Bulgaria, but the Bulgarians got the bulge on them the other day and made the Servians march back again.

SECRETARY WHITNEY, now running John Roach's shipyard at Chester, has a strike on his hands—something almost unknown under the benevolent and intelligent management of Mr. Roach.

A NEGRO named Goode has been convicted of manslaughter in New York for killing a policeman. That Negro's name should be changed before long as there is not much good in his character.

IN Mexico funerals are conducted with greater magnificence than any other place in the world. Jewels and laces are buried with the dead and the surviving female relatives are compelled to wear mourning garments at least two years.

JOHN H. MITCHELL is the name of the new United States Senator from Oregon. He is a Republican, and received the compliment of many Democratic votes. He is a native of Pennsylvania Wonder if he is a relative of our own U. S. Senator Mitchell?

POOR CLEVELAND! He is trying to write a message which, while it will be an able document, will not commit him on any subject nor offend any one. That's as difficult as cleansing the Aegean stables, and Cleveland is not the Hercules of this generation.

AN oil still exploded the other day in Philadelphia. Although it was a still the report of the explosion was quite loud. It didn't remain very still, either, because the fragments were thrown in every direction. But if it hadn't been for that explosion it would have there still.

A WOMAN in Indiana, in her application for a divorce, alleges that her husband, in addition to other dreadful things, eats with his knife. If the other charges of adultery, murder and theft do not do the job, the Judge will undoubtedly catch the man up on this one. It is about enough to fix it. The statutes do not give this as a cause, but good taste and breeding do.

Let Everybody Give Thanks.

The Governors of most of the States have followed the good example given by President Cleveland in declaring to-day (Thursday), the 26th, a day of thanksgiving and prayer. We heartily approve of this action of the chief executive of the Nation, and Governor Pattison was right in so promptly indorsing the sentiment.

Now, we truly hope that all people especially the citizens of Centre county and this borough, will respond heartily to this proclamation and will give true and devout thanks to the Great Giver of All for his boundless good providences to all men, especially to the people of this country, and more particularly to this community.

We all have much to be sincerely grateful for, and if we don't express this gratitude we ought to be ashamed of ourselves.

It is quite likely that the churches will be open. If so it will be becoming for everybody to go to his place of worship. Though, of course, each person will have an appetite for a Thanksgiving dinner, we can assure all that previous attendance at church will add to appetite, and will at the same time, help each one to use greater moderation in partaking of it. Moderation is especially necessary when one is sitting down before a tempting Thanksgiving dinner.

For, you are all well aware that—

The Thanksgiving turkey sometimes comes back to the sleeper on Thanksgiving night. It comes in the shape of a turkey ghost and upbraids the diner for eating so heartily. With sepulchral voice the turkey ghost will say, "I am the spirit of the turkey you so fowl-ly consumed. You took both of my wings and then came back to ask for a second joint and some more filling. That, with all the plum-pudding, mince pie, etc., that you eat is entirely too much for any ordinary individual, and I shall haunt you for exactly six hours."

Is there a person in this section who says, "I have nothing to be thankful for?" No matter what your condition may be, we shall take you by the hand and say that you have.

What have you been reading in the REPUBLICAN the past year? Have you not read of wars and rumors of wars that have disturbed the peace of Europe, Asia and Africa? Have you not read of the smallpox which has marked the countenances of the Canadians, besides causing the deaths of many of them? Then has not that distressed northern dependency of Great Britain been convulsed by a revolution, the leader of which, Riel, has just been executed? But we cannot recall to your memories all that you have read; you probably remember them better than we do.

The citizen of this country can again tell the world that during this year he lived in the most favored part of the spherical old footstool. The Indians have not disturbed us quite as much as usual. The northwestern miners have said to the Chinese, "You must go!" but nobody blames the miners much for saying that, as we dare say we would help them to give execution to their command were we among them.

A prosperous planting, growing and harvest season has just passed, and although perhaps we are too miserly to imitate ancient Israel in bringing the first fruits of our offerings, we can certainly bring our thanks. Remember the big yellow pumpkins which have given a golden glory to the harvest field and now, in the shape of sauce or pie, lend aromatic flavor to the Thanksgiving feast. Remember the splendid strawberries which are now preserved for Winter use and make a dish which for delicious excellence were not equaled by any food which the gods on Mt. Olympus partook of when they were in their glory. If this don't make you give thanks as well as take a dish of good things to your neighbor, who perhaps hasn't seen any of these things for months past, we pity you.

There are some people who didn't have sugar last Summer in which to preserve the berries, and didn't have money even to buy pumpkins. They have forgotten what turkey, plum pudding and mince pies taste like. Remember them, or we shall be inclined to say that you are nothing but a selfish glutton. We don't want to call names on this glorious holiday and therefore will give you our blessing, and wish you a lovely Thanksgiving.

THE French Canadians in Quebec are almost in a state of revolt.

Peculiar Paragraphs.

Somebody has taken the trouble to send us a copy of the Evening Item, of Philadelphia. In it are several marked paragraphs, referring to our excellent townsman, P. Gray Meek. We do not understand the animus of the paragraphs, but they seem to be pitched in a very mournful strain, and do not seem to reflect in a complimentary way on our good Democratic friend. For instance, one reads as follows:

O Lord, we thank Thee and Sam Randall that Thou hasn't seen fit in thy wisdom to inflict upon us in this our day of tribulation, P. G. Meek.

Now, we are delighted that this paragrapher has something to be thankful for. We are devoutly thankful that the Deity has been good enough to give Mr. P. G. Meek to us and we dare say that it's a case of sour grapes with the Philadelphia Item and they can't get Peter Gray even if they want him. We shall keep him; we can't get along without him. He is a pleasant and profitable study and has helped to make lively history for Centre county. Oh, no; you can't have Mr. Meek.

Again, in the same column, our citizen friend is referred to. It seems that the author of that column could not get Mr. Meek out of his thoughts. He rises up before him like a haunting vision and his pen traces out the following:

P. Gray Meek gives a dismal howl over the lack of political morality of the Democracy of the State in failing to come out to vote. "Why, here, in Centre county alone," he whines, "there were 1,800 Democrats who fail to go to the polls to vote, and it was the same thing all over the State." Of course it was, but does P. Gray Meek require a pile-driver to thrust into his economical and alleged brain the real reason of this absenteeism? Too much Cleveland—too much Randall—too much Hensel—too much McClure (the marplot)—too much P. Gray Meek. And the man in the back pew said, "Amen."

This is too outrageous, and we warn that Item paragraph man to keep quiet hereafter. With real good luck and with the aid of Meek and Bible we'll surely have Centre county all right in the sweet bye and bye.

Mistakes of the Church and the Press.

There is entirely too great a desire on the part of those who contribute to newspapers to deal only with the sensational and often there is an attempt to make sensational events which are not so all. Particularly is this true in the relations of the press to the church. Every church scandal is hunted up by those who write for the papers and if a minister goes wrong the fact that he is a minister seems to impel the newspaper to magnify the wrong action a thousand fold. Thus the press arrays itself, to a certain extent, in opposition to the church, as it seems to be its greatest delight to cause trouble therein. On the other hand, there is too great a reticence, even here in Bellefonte, on the part of church people, to give information to the press respecting affairs of their church. Often when the desire is only to disseminate good news and thus to aid the church, the ministers will withhold information. We do not believe there is the least desire on the part of the newspaper press in Bellefonte to do other than aid the church in every way that is possible, and yet ministers, when asked for perfectly legitimate information, have withheld it and manifested an independence and indifference which does not become them or the cause they profess.

Thus, there is room for improvement on the part of both the press and the pulpit. Both should be public educators and in the work of educating and elevating humanity the two should unite more closely.

Of course, they cannot work in the same channels. But because the church chooses to work in one way and the press in another, they should not waste their strength in criticisms and in harmful quarreling, but should pursue the path marked out for them without turning to the right or to the left.

THE Supreme Court of Wisconsin has come to the aid of the tramps to the extent of declaring that a man has the right to wander where he will, so that he does not trespass on private property or break the laws. It is doubtful whether the genuine tramps will be particularly grateful for this relief. A tramp who can only go along the roads without appropriating to himself the fruits of the fields or the henroosts, might as well go to work.

WE suspect that a good many Centre county Democrats are preparing to vote the Republican ticket next election.

They Wasted Time.

There was a great billiard tournament in Chicago only a few days ago. The tournament lasted several days. One Frenchman and two Americans participated in it. We believe we have correctly named the nationalities of the gentlemen, but of that we are not certain, neither do we care much. But these knights of the cue played so long, with what result? Poor fellows! Not one of the three can to-day tell which is the best player. Doubtless, each one will lay claim to possessing the most skill, but his friends will not believe it until he proves it, and these gentlemen played six nights we believe and didn't prove anything, because each won two games, making it a tie all around. We believe that the Frenchman, Vigneaux, made the best single plays, and excelled all previous efforts, but, nevertheless, he failed in winning the most games.

Now, these games would have been a waste of time, it seems to us, even if one of them had succeeded in proving himself more skillful than the others but that the tournament should have resulted this way seems to enforce this lesson, and we advise the gentlemen to devote their energies to something better.

ONE of the best results of the Prohibition campaign now under way in Atlanta, Ga., will be the rehabilitation of at least 2000 colored voters. The devices of the Democrats having made voting a farce, the colored men lost all incentive to pay their poll taxes, and, as all back taxes in that state must be paid before a man can vote, a large number of colored men had become practically disfranchised. But the Prohibitionists and the Anti-prohibitionists are so eager to carry the pending local option election that they are coming forward and offering publicly to pay the delinquent taxes of all those who will vote on their side of the question. They are also giving assurances to the colored voters that their vote shall be cast and honestly counted. Whether the Prohibitionists succeed or not, they are certainly inserting into the solid Democratic South the thin edge of a wedge which may yet rend in twain. And for so much give them their full credit.

THE autopsy does less than nothing to end the disagreement of the doctors in the McCullough case. Dr. Engel asserts that it confirms his diagnosis and persists in his opinion that if he had been called upon earlier the famous actor might have been restored to health and sanity. The physicians at the Bloomingdale Asylum in New York, who are on this theory more or less chargeable with the fatal result, maintain on the contrary that McCullough's Philadelphia treatment hastened his death. The case is evidently one which can be scientifically discussed with much profit. All the facts are known and indisputable. It ought to be possible to arrive at some definite and indisputable conclusion in regard to them—which may be of benefit to mankind.

MINHLA, the Burmese town which has been captured by the British forces invading King Theebaw's dominions, was the most strongly fortified position on the Irrawaddy River. Its powerful guns mounted on high earthworks, built on the latest modern and scientific principles by European engineers in the Burmese service, completely commanded the main channel, and accordingly the destruction of the city was absolutely necessary before the British steamers and boats could continue their progress to Mandalay. The onward march of the British forces, some 250 miles, is now comparatively easy, although beyond Minhla the Irrawaddy is very shallow and its navigation is only known to native pilots of experience.

THE Poet Whittier thinks Mr. Cleveland better than his party. Well—wonder how the party thinks? We will wager our duster that the party does not agree with the poet; but then poets are seldom good judges of men.

THE population of a Canadian village, two thousand people, have signed the pledge of total abstinance for a year. That's excellent; if they all remain faithful to their pledge it will be more excellent.

THE Baltimore and Ohio Railroad will soon have a through line all the way from Baltimore to New York.

ALEXANDER of Bulgaria, the young prince, now in his 29th year, who is so gallantly defending his country from the Servian invasion, seems to be displaying qualities in state-craft and war that will make him fill a very conspicuous page in history. If we know the truth of the Bulgarian union movement, he converted to his own uses the agitation which Russia has for several years adroitly fostered, but which would never have been consummated with her consent while he occupied the throne. To thus shrewdly outmanœuvre the cunning agents of the Czar would alone stamp him as a man of brilliant parts, but in addition to this he has proved himself a strong and daring fighter on the field of battle. With an army numerically inferior to that of the Servians, not well disciplined or equipped, and without staff or corps officers of known merit or experience, he has won two battles in which the odds were all against him. Coming of a race of petty German princes doomed to semi-obscurity, until his brother married a British royal princess and he went in to create a homogeneous nation of the Bulgars, it looks as if he were destined to write the name of Battenberg in letters of fire before the gaze of the world.

THE Democratic circus and hippodrome known as the House of Representatives opens at Washington December 7. Some of the animals have arrived, and are growling about—Springer, Morrison and others. We venture the suggestion—mildly, of course—a mere suggestion—that when the circus opens Uncle Randall will be on deck, and right in the middle of the ring, and holding the whole concern up by the posterior lobe of its ear. Uncle Randall is the only engineer in the National Hippodrome who knows how much steam the Democratic boiler will carry. He sits on the valve, and is about the only man amongst them who can.

THE statement that thus far about 11,000 heads of the offensive partisan, whose offensiveness consisted in belonging to the wrong party, have fallen under the guillotine of the Postoffice Department, brings solace to the offensive partisans who are expecting to get their noses into the trough. Still this average of nearly three hundred a week is all too slow for those who have suffered from hunger and thirst for nearly 25 years. It is promising to them, however, in hearing that the President's scruples are not likely to stand in the way of a pretty clean sweep when the broom is wielded by a vigorous subordinate.

IT is now stated that England, Germany, France and Italy have formed an alliance to preserve the peace of Europe, and curb the warlike spirit of Russia and Austria. If this statement be correct, the speech of the Emperor of Germany to the Reichstag certainly will be postponed. With the four Powers named arrayed in favor of peace, Russia and Austria will not fight. The Emperor of Germany is now an old man, and his advice is for peaceful measures in his declining years. After his death, it will be more difficult to preserve the peace of Europe.

IN a suit for libel brought by an individual named Stuart against the Philadelphia Press the jury gave the plaintiff a verdict for $1200. The alleged libel was the article which contained an interview with Stuart, who conducted a school for clerks, salesmen and reporters. We do not believe the jury found a proper verdict, neither did the presiding judge properly charge the jury. A new trial will be applied for and, if granted, the next jury will probably refuse to give a verdict for the plaintiff.

FROM the Philadelphia Press: "Senator Gorman says the Democracy in Maryland is stronger than it was a year ago. Perhaps this explains it, although really we thought it was the fish dying along the Chesapeake Bay."

WAGES of workingmen, being among the first things to go down in a period of business depression, ought not to be among the last things to go up when there is an improvement in trade.

WE discredit the rumor that Elizabeth Rose Cleveland has hurried home to write Grover's message for him.

LESSEPS has just celebrated his 80th birthday. Canal boating suits this active old man.

Oh, Grover, dear, the time is near
When Congress comes to find you.
What will you do, oh, Grover, dear,
When Congress goes behind you?

GENERAL NOTES.

In London the other day a bullfinch sold for $350.

Mr. Burn, of Indianapolis, has just lost his building by fire.

The American colony in Paris numbers about 3000 persons.

The unpaid taxes in Brooklyn for last year amount to $1,100,000.

Thomas James, of Gainesville, Fla., is the father of fifty-three children.

A perfectly petrified oak has been presented to the Kansas University.

Steel rails continue to be increasingly wanted, and the price, is up to $33 per ton.

It is estimated that 3,000 families in the Beaver valley use natural gas for fuel.

Sulphur is deposited in the top of Mount Popocatapetl at the rate of a ton a day.

The rector of a fashionable church in Utah is spoken of as the "Apostle of the Genteels."

A Cleveland paper says a large number of young men paint and powder their faces.

A bill to prohibit newspapers from publishing details of suicides is under consideration in the Uruguayan Congress.

A cannon that was used in Indian warfare 200 years ago is stationed in front of police headquarters in Montgomery, Ala.

An Ohio man last winter predicted his death in the fall of 1885. Last Wednesday he dropped dead just as he predicted he would.

A professor of dentistry has been appointed for the schools in Surrey, England. His business is to look after the teeth of the pupils.

While a London chemist was testing a bottle of milk it exploded with a loud report, and scattering fragments of glass all over the room.

The expenses of Yale College last year exceeded the income by $11,534.00. The deficit occurred in the academic and medical departments.

All the fruit and other trees in Santa Barbara, Cal., are being dug up and English walnuts planted in their stead. This craze is rapidly spreading.

Four students at an Iowa college were stung so badly in robbing a bee-hive that detection of the theft and expulsion from the school quickly followed.

Recent explorations at Memphis, in Egypt, have brought to light a large number of harps and other musical instruments, supposed to be at least 3,000 years old.

An Indian in Dakota has domesticated a male moose, and uses him in his farm work. The animal is a good worker and lively stepper, no horse being able to keep up with him.

The Church of England Funeral and Mourning Reform Association is doing an excellent work in simplifying and cheapening funerals. A similar association is to be organized in New York.

A New London (Conn.) man a few days ago, to win a bet of $5, accomplished the feat of eating 100 smelts in 17 minutes and 20 seconds, 2 minutes and 40 seconds quicker than the time allowed by the terms of the wager.

The burning of the hotel Laurence Junction a few days ago, demonstrated that greenbacks are better than gold. Some gold coin in the safe was melted by the heat, while several hundred dollars in paper came out uninjured

Three Philadelphia ladies returning from the National Park, astonished the Dakota natives by appearing on the platform of the train at every station in dresses which they had made of leaves and mosses sewed on cloth as paper dresses are made.

Serving as a doorstep to a store in Cuthbert, Ga., is a rock, which many persons believe is the petrified body of a human being, so perfect is the resemblance. It was dug out of a neighboring quarry a few months ago. The matter is to be scientifically investigated.

A California paper says that a new species of bear has been discovered on Mount Shasta which is found in no other part of the world. It is about the size of a sheperd dog, is perfectly white and very ferocious. Three of them have been killed, but none captured alive.

A small boat, roughly but stoutly made, the handiwork of an Indian boy 14 years of age, a pupil at the Carlisle school, is exhibited on one of the Secretaries' desks at Washington. Mr. Evans graphically endorses the craft as "an outward and visible sign of the inward spiritual grace" of civilation of the red man out of reach of the cowboy.

Blocks of compressed coal are used in lieu of coke at some of the blast furnaces in Belgium. It has been found that by the use of these blocks a much higher temperature of hot blast is obtained, and that the proportion of combustible consumed—coke and compressed coal included—per ton of pig iron produced is less than with coke alone.

It may interest the fair wearers of seal sacques to know how many big, round, liquid eyes have been shut by the cruel lance of commerce in the North Atlantic this year. Of the Dundee fleet of steamers seven went to Newfoundland and captured 73,390 seals, as against 34,329 last year. Four ships went to Greenland and slaughtered 10,750, as against 17,119 last year.

Katherine B. Fisher, in "The Overland Monthly" for November, says: "The two mischievous tendencies which the teacher of the present age has to combat are the superficiality born of frivolous views of life, and that more potent, because more specious, enemy, voiced in the clamor for practical education, which, being interpreted, means the ability to earn money at the earliest possible age."

Poetry.

ST. PETER AND THE BASKETS.

St. Peter from the door of heaven, one day
Speed two young angels on their happy way,
For the first time to see the world in May—
Both bearing baskets.

They were to bring back flowers more fragrant far
Than budding rose and blooming hawthorn are;
They were to bring [illegible] the star
Back in their baskets.

The Angel of Thanksgivings, full of glee,
Donned a huge hamper half as big as he;
But the Collector of Petitions see,
With a small basket,

When they returned St. Peter, as before
Sat with his golden keys beside the door;
But each appeared to be in trouble sore
About his basket.

The Angel of Petitions bore a sack
Cram full, and bound uncouthly on his back;
Yet even then it seemed that he had lack
Of bag and basket.

The Angel of Thanksgivings blushed to feel
The empty lightness of his mighty creel;
"But there!" he muttered, turning on his heel,
To hide his basket.

Then spoke St. Peter: "When again you go
On a paper gathering, you will better know
That men's petitions in the world below
Fill a big basket.

"But when you go to gather up their thanks
For prayers well answered and forgiven pranks,
For health restored and disentangled hanks,
Your smallest basket!"

SEASONABLE RHYMES.

Behold, Winter Cometh.

The days are colder growing,
The raw nor'easter's blowing,
The beauty of the Indian summer's fled, fled, fled,
The tramps are disappearing,
The time for snow is nearing,
The little boy is fixing up his sled, sled, sled.

Hurrah for Thanksgiving.

The glad Thanksgiving's near us,
That yearly comes to cheer us,
When rich mince pies are served up hot, hot, hot,
The jolly farmer's killing
His turkeys now and filling
The crop of each with several pounds of shot, shot, shot.

The Lazy Husband.

Some morning we'll discover
Snow three feet deep or over—
The husband then will have a dreadful cough, cough, cough,
And really won't be able
To go down to the table
Until his little wife has "shovelled off, off, off."

The Livery Man will have to stand it.

The lover then, no doubt,
Will take his sweetheart out
And drive her round the suburbs in a sleigh, sleigh, sleigh.
Behind a prancing span,
Let by the livery man
Who'll likely have to whistle for his pay, pay, pay.

The Organ Grinder.

The swarthy son of sunny Italy
Has left the thoroughfares,
And we regret it, for he played quite prettily
The old familiar airs.

He played to empty houses where "to lets"
Were not exposed to view,
Played "Johnny Morgan" and "Sweet Violets,"
And also "Peek-a Boo."

And never deemed his labor only loss
As patiently he played,
But simply thought the people mighty close,
And further onward strayed.

Farwell till spring—then come with "Peek-a Boo,"
"The letter in the Candle"—
We loved thy music well because we knew
'Twas every bit by Handle.

Our Story Teller.

A Wayward Ward.

It is the business of the philosopher, as the world knows, to find law and order in even the most abnormal phenomena, to suggest, at least, an adequate explanation of every enigma. For what other purpose does he exist than to throw light on the surrounding darkness? He is a torch-bearer to humanity's ignorance. If now and again, by reason of a pessimist temperament or defect of training, the rays he sheds around intensify rather than dispel the gloom, and cast shadows as of Egyptian night across man's forward path, surely he misconstrues his mission.

But the wisest head is sometimes puzzled, and the shrewdest explorer of the all-environing mystery is sometimes confounded. A problem presents itself which cannot be resolved by any of the familiar processes. The why of some suddenly disclosed fact is as inscrutable as the Sphynx of the eastern desert. It was thus with Bernard Ralston.

Those who thirst for fame, as misers thirst for gold, or coquettes for admiration, would have found much to envy in this young man's position. At an age when a statesman is currently supposed to be studying his parliamentary primer, and when a future general may still be writhing under the sarcasms of a barrack-room instructor, Bernard Ralston had been welcomed into the front rank of philosophical thinkers. His book on "Instinct, Conscience and Reason" was read and criticised by the few, praised and avoided by the many. The noisy heterodox claimed him as a new and promising recruit; and so also to the amusement of the on-looker, did the staunchest maintainers of old landmarks. He was flattered, feted, and the lion of the season.

It was from this suddenly acquired distinction that his embarrassment had approached. The solicitor's letter that was the beginning of sorrows made this clear. It ran thus:

DEAR SIR: We have to inform you that by the will of our late client, Mr. Humphrey Power, you are appointed sole guardian of his only surviving daughter, Olive. As this may be in the nature of a surprise, we beg leave to quote the precise paragraph of the will: "And I hereby empower Mr. Bernard Ralston to act in every respect as the guardian of my child. I am sure that Olive can have no fitter or wiser protector, none better qualified to advise and to regulate her life; and should he—as I earnestly beg—accept and fulfil this charge, I give and bequeath to the said Bernard Ralston, over and above such reasonable expenses as he may have incurred on my daughter's behalf, the sum of £5000, to be paid by my executors on my daughter's twenty-first brithday, as a small tribute of my gratitude." The young lady is a very considerable heiress, in her eighteenth year, and at present at a private pension in France. Further particulars will follow on your reply. We are, dear sir, yours obediently,

FARSHAWE & FITCH.

The gift of the proverbial white elephant could have produced in no heart a greater consternation. What should a retired and solitary student, of serious pursuits and uncourtly manners, answer to such a challenge? If Cleethorpe Hall were large, it by no means followed that he wanted more life within its bounds, and a girl in her teens, a mere child, as with the sage wisdom of five-and-thirty years he considered her. How could her presence by his fireside be harmonized with the quiet current of the life he elected to live!

Yet, the bait of five thousand pounds was a temptation. The glories of Cleethorpe Hall had been sadly tarnished through the improvidence of Bernard's father, and philosophy is not a particularly remunerative hobby to ride. Mr Humphrey Power's legacy, if not precisely a fortune, would be an assistance in the keeping up of the restricted Cleetbrope establishment.

The matter was debated long and anxiously, and as a result Miss Olive Power arrived at the ball one snowy February morning. Slight of figure, winsome of feature, with merry, violet-tinted brown eyes, and lips continually parting in a piquant smile over teeth of whitest pearl, Bernard Ralston was forced to admit that, if he was properly to protect his ward, his position would not prove a sinecure. Neither did it.

The girl's beauty attracted suitors as clover blossoms allure bees; and it was soon an open secret in the country-side that Miss Power, as well as being a lonely and a lovely young thing, was a richly-dowered one. This brought the sometimes lugubrious voice of prudence into reasonable accord with the chorus of adoration.

But Olive was not minded to be an easy capture for any of her wooers. With a woman's instinctive dexterity she kept them at bay, and at twenty had escaped the necessity of as yet refusing any offer in formal and unequivocal terms. She was developing a taste for study which half amused, half interested her guardian. One evening he playfully railled her on her application to sundry big tomes in his library.

"I shall be accused of transforming a merry and bewitching young lady into a blue-stock—a disciple of my own dry-as-dust pursuits," he said; "some day she may have special cause to blame me, I fear."

A sudden blush was on the maiden's cheeks, and her glance fell. It wasn't possible that she should misinterpret Bernard's meaning.

"There is Oswald Harbury to think of," Olive's guardian was daring enough to say.

Two shining eyes were momentarily uplifted. Was the flash they gave one of indignation, of scorn, or merely of confusion at a betrayed secret. Bernard could not guess.

"The nature of my employments can make no difference whatever, in any way that I can imagine, to Mr. Harbury," she answered. Then—it seemed to Bernard a strange transition—"Will you forgive me for asking a favor?" she went swiftly on; "I should like—oh, so much!—to help you in your work. Could I not copy out your notes or revise proofs sometimes?"

What philosopher could have successfully resisted the volunteered help of such an amanuensis? Not Bernard Ralston.

It was summer, three months later than the date of this conversation. Olive's guardian was seeking his ward in her own boudoir, with a gloom upon his face and a depression of soul which defied his analysis. He had a message to convey and a proposal to informally submit which he had little doubt would be accepted. Oswald Harbury, the young owner of half Cleethrope, had asked permission to lay himself and his fortunes at Olive's feet. He loved her, he said; he would do his best to make her happy.

"And I believe that he will. He has a home to offer you and is a true hearted, honorable gentleman. As your guardian, Olive, I am bound to give my sanction to so fair and promising a suit, May I bid Mr. Harbury to come and plead his own cause?"

"No, you may not," Olive said, "unless, indeed, you wish to get rid of me—to send me away. And not even then, for I cannot consent to marry a man whom I do not love."

Send Olive away! Was not every pulse in his body beating with fierce, unbidden joy at the verdict she had given? The measure of his recent terror was the measure of his present relief.

"That is fear which my ward—my wayward ward!—need never harbor," he said, with a slow, broad smile; "she has brought too much sunshine into my lonely life for me to wish to lose her. But change is inevitable some day."

"Why?" a low voice murmured; and again the mysterious illumination of Olive's eyes.

"Because, Olive—if for no other reason—the years of my guardianship will soon be at an end," he answered steadily, almost sternly. He must face the future resolutely, as befitted a teacher of his fellows.

And a few seconds later his quick, nervous step was echoing in the passage without.

An early summer vacation in Switzerland—when the glorious Alpine flora should be at its loveliest—had been the cherished dream of years to Bernard Ralston, and at last it was realized. A woman's hand had guided his steps thitherward. Olive Power had persuaded him to lay aside his work and make play time of the sunny weather.

"You can finish your book on "Vanity as a Force in Human Affairs' when you return, and the critics will all say that the last chapters are the brightest," she said, pleadingly. And when she added a slight involuntary expression of her own eagerness for the change, he surrendered. The trio—Miss Ralston, Bernard's sister and housekeeper, was Olive's chaperon—had now been from England a fortnight.

They had reached the Riffel, and were thus encamped under the shadow of the majestic (grim and uncouth, for variation of epithets) Matterhorn itself. Here Olive went into ecstacies. To watch the sunrise bathe the rugged, furrowed sides with waves of liquid light was an occupation of which she never tried. And then there was the Gorner Grat to visit, the Gorner Glacier to see.

At the hotel there was pleasant company, including a couple of young Americans, who swept the ordinary reserved and cautious student into a participation in their adventures by the sheer force of enthusiasm. The three went off one afternoon on a quest for edelweiss. The gloom was thickening in gorge and pass and gray shadows were following the crimson sunset glow on the huge crests aloft before there was any sign of a return. The ladies grew uneasy. Stories of accident and of awful peril were staples of the conversational bill of fare in the hotel saloon and inevitably exerted their influence on nervous minds. In this case the presentiment of evil was but too surely justified.

Two of the venturesome explorers returned weary and dishevelled, but Bernard Ralston was missing.

"We thought he was before us," explained Mark Croxford, the elder of the brothers.

"We drifted apart among the boulders and ice-ridges of the glacier edge and we looked for him to rejoin us at the lower end of the track. Not meeting him we supposed he had hurried away homeward."

A sudden chill had gone to many a heart in the little group of listeners. The thought of precipices and of their hidden and treacherous dangers was in every one's mind. A search expedition was quickly organized and started.

"I hear steps behind," said the guide halting on the first stage of the journey and prominently displaying his lamp.

"Why, it is Miss Power!" cried Mark Croxford in astonishment.

It was indeed Olive. With blanched cheeks and agonized eyes and dauntless resolution, she insisted on accompanying the seekers. It was at her request that Bernard Ralston had come to Switzerland. If he perished would it not in a sense be her fault? Better that her own life should have been sacrificed! To persuade the girl to return was useless, only a loss of precious minutes. With a muttered growl of disapprobation the guide was compelled to allow her to proceed.

Hours were spent in a vain pursuit.

"Guide, is there any hope?" demanded a stalwart Cornishman, at last.

"I fear none!" he answered; "at the bottom of yonder chasm—"

His words were cut short. A cry, half triumphant, half fearful, slipped over Olive Power's bloodless lips.

"Listen! I hear a groan," she said.

A silence that might be felt, prevailed.

"The wind across the glacier, miss," answered the leader in sulky despair. "There is nothing for it but to go back."

"I will not," the girl declared, "until you tell me whose voice that is. Hark! it is no sound of wind."

Again they listened, and again without result.

Mark Croxfrod gently laid his hand on Olive's arm. "Believe me, you are mistaken, Miss Power," he said; "you do not suppose that any one of us would give up this search if the least chance remained? But the guide knows best."

And yet, as he uttered his melancholy remonstrance, there was a sound from over the neighboring ice-floe hard to credit to even the most eerie of Swiss breezes.

"There! surely you hear it now?" the girl said.

If only to make clear the girl's folly to herself, the quest was recommended.

The quick ear of love had not blundered, after all. This time a chance gleam of the guide's lantern over a jagged precipice-side revealed a dark form huddled against an inner ledge. It was Bernard Ralston, insensible from the effects of his perilous fall, and proving that he still lived only by an occasional groan.

"I beg pardon very humbly, Miss Power," Mark Croxford whispered.

"And they tell me, Olive, that I owe my life to you," the convalescent said, wheeled out on the broad mountain terrace of his resting place. "How shall I contrive to repay you, I wonder? Do you know—nay, you cannot know—I had a dream this morning. After the doctor had left my room I dozed, and it seemed to me that—the dearest girl in the wide world—and surely the bravest—came to my side and smoothed down the pillow—and—dare I whisper the words?—caressed my forehead. It was singular, was it not?"

Something in the poise of the averted face awakened a swift suspicion—a keen thrill of happiness.

"It cannot be that—that it was not a dream?" he queried. "That my ward is willing to be still dearer—to be my wife?"

The small palm was not withdrawn, the lovely crimsoned face was swiftly and momentarily upturned, as he had seen it twice before, and this time a look of ineffable content was mirrored thereupon.

"If you really desire so to extend your guardianship of your 'wayward ward,'" mischievous accents answer. And Bernard Ralston's sometime problem had become his dearest treasure. Love itself had taught love's lesson.

A New Plant.

"You have a very fine collection of plants," said the minister, as Mrs. Snagg was showing him through the conservatory at her country seat.

"Yes, I an quite proud of my botanical display," was her reply.

"You must have a specimen of nearly every variety."

"Well, yes; but there is a plant that I read of the other day that I never saw, and I must get one of them."

"A plant you never saw?"

"Yes, I read of it in a Pittsburg paper."

"What kind of a plant was it?"

"It was called a 'coal plant,' but I really don't know what it is like. I'll get Mr. Snaggs to get me one when he goes to the city."

A prominent physicians says the healthiest persons are those who live in the top story. That's so. Whoever heard of cats dying with consumption.

A Curious Story.

Last week, says a correspondent of the Sacramento Bee, the residence of the late Judge Delos Lake was sold at auction for $17,000. It cost to build it over $50,000. It has rather an interesting history. It is a monument to a woman's folly and a man's weakness. In the early days of California a Massachusetts farmer started for the land of gold, after selling his farm and dividing the proceeds with his wife, who, with her two little girls, he left in Boston. His wife did not hear from him for a long time, and her money being expended, she had a hard struggle for life, but she went to work bravely, making fancy horse blankets through the day and teaching music lessons in the evening. In this way she managed to feed and clothe herself and children, and save a very small sum every month. Communication between the eastern States and California was not so direct nor sure then as it is now, and she thought that the letters she wrote might have gone astray, and a like misfortune had prevented her from hearing from her husband. Then came a letter, short, and containing no intimation of what he was doing or how he was prospering in his new home.

After this she received one or two letters at long intervals, and then they ceased forever. She wrote continually, but received no answer, and she feared he was dead. She gave up all hope of ever seeing him again, and devoted herself to the education of her two little daughters and the saving of money for a rainy day. Years went on and she did not hear from her natural protector until a lady returned to Boston from California on a visit to some friends. The anxious wife called upon the California lady and inquired of her whether she had ever heard of her husband in that wild western land, and was surprised to hear that the lady knew him, and that he was considered quite a rich man out there. She obtained his address and wrote to him, but received no answer. Then, like a brave Yankee women, she sold her little belongings, took what money she had saved, and, with her little children, started on a steamer for San Francisco, arriving here with $7 50 in her pocket.

She inquired for the silent husband, was directed to where he lived, and presented herself to him with her two little ones clinging to her skirts. You would imagine that a first-class circus would have ensued, but it was not so. He received her calmly, as though it was an ordinary thing to have a wife and two children drop down on him from the clouds. She was a spunky little woman, and no doubt "gave him a bit of her mind," but it affected him no more than the cry of poverty does a millionaire. He gave no reason for his long silence, and she found, on looking over his trunks, all her letters unopened.

When she asked him why he acted in the way he did, he only answered, "I don't know." That was all—he did not know—and she does not know to this day why he remained silent. He had formed no other ties of any kind here, and there was not the slightest evidence of a woman being at the bottom of it all. He was a good natured, kindly, well disposed man, honest and industrious, not given to any vices, and had accumulated quite a large fortune. He was stopping at a hotel when she arrived, but he immediately on her arrival, took a house, furnished it and went to housekeeping.

The wife for the first time in many years, enjoyed the comforts of a good home and rest from hard labor, but she was not content. She could not let well enough alone, and determined to make a show with the fortune which the old man had quietly accumulated. The first thing she must have was a fine house; then fine clothes, a carriage and servants. The old man, probably thinking he had no right to refuse her under the circumstances, weakly conceded to her request, and began the erection of a fine house on a fifty yard lot in the most fashionable portion of the city. The house was finished and furnished, and a big hole was made in his pile. Then came expensive living, and then, in a little while, a visit to the East to show her friends the fine lady she had blossomed into in California. They went East, summered at Saratoga, married one of her daughters off, cut a dash generally, and returned home to find a mortgage on the new house.

The old man had not—as is usual with rich husbands when the wife is away—gone in for dissipation, but a misfortune just as great overtook him. He got into the hands of sharpers, and they robbed him. Loss followed loss until he was hopelessly involved. Most of his money was gone, and his spirit was broken. While he remained at his old business of making bricks he was all right, but when he gave up that plebeian business, and started out into what the wife considered a wider sphere and one more in keeping with their wealth, he was all at sea and was soon a financial wreck. He was still silent with reference to his affairs, and the extravagant style of living was kept up until the inevitable crash came, and the sheriff's red flag floated from the grand mansion. To-day the old couple are poor, and the husband an invalid. They had their time, at least she had.

A Mistake by Tennyson.

"I think Tennyson must be going crazy," said Ebenezer Jones to Zebedee Smith this morning.

"Why?" asked Zebedee.

"He is either going crazy or else he does not read the Bible."

"What in the world do you mean?"

"Why, he has written a poem entitled 'The Close of Another Eve.'"

"Well, what of that?"

"Why, Eve had no clothes."

"Do I have to go in there with all those cattle?" asked a stylishly-dressed woman, with a dog in her arms, as she looked into a crowded passenger coach of a day train without a sleeper. "No, ma'am, you don't have to," replied the conductor. "Well, what can I do? I don't see any other car." "Why, ma'am, you can wait at the station here till that train on the siding goes, and then you can have a whole stock car to yourself." She went and sat down.

On another page of this blank are printed the various laws and acts of legislature according to which the blank is framed. The last act printed is that of June 30, 1885, as follows:

Upon the refusal or failure of any taxable person to make a return as required by this act, it shall be the duty of the assessor to make a return of such taxable person, estimating the amount from the best information at his command, to which estimated return the proper county commissioners or boards of revision shall add fifty per centum, and the aggregate amount so obtained shall be the basis for taxation: Provided, That if such taxable person, on or before the day fixed for appeals from assessments, shall present reasons, under oath, satisfactory to the proper county commissioners or boards of revision, excusing the failure to make a return, and shall then make such return as should have been made to the assessor, the proper county commissioners or boards of revision shall substitute the taxable person's return for that returned by the assessor, to have like effect as if no failure had occurred.

A Tremendous Trout.

New Hampshire Mirror.

An extraordinary event took place on Lake Winnisquam, near this village on Monday which eclipses anything in the piscatorial line ever heard of in this section. A party of gentlemen went across the bay and landed upon the Sanborton shore. Five of the party subsequently secured a small boat and took a position a short distance from the shore to catch perch. There was but one trout gear among the party, which William J Russell utilized, and in about half an hour landed an eleven and one-half pound trout. At this another of the party—William Belford—remarked, "I'm going to catch one that will lay you all out," and proceeded to hunt up a tackle. There happened to be a large ball of twine in the boat, near the size of a pipe-stem. Belford got hold of this, and also an old rust con hook. These he bent together and, attaching a cold chisel for a sinker, put on a good sized bullfrog for bait and cast off. The eccentric paraphernalia went to the bottom, as a matter of course, very suddenly, where it lay for about five minutes, when there was a bite. Business on the boat began to be brisk soon after, and intense excitement prevailed. The huge trout, for such it proved to be, was boarded in about twenty minutes, not before all hands, however, rendered assistance in taking him in.

The singular part of the affair seems to lie in the fact that such a hasty and uncouth rig should capture the prize trout ever landed from the waters of any lake in this section including Winnipisseogee. The weight was twenty-eight and one half, the head alone weighing four and one half pounds, and the extreme length being forty inches.

"Mother," said a young wife, "would you mind cooking the dinner to-day? It would please John I know. He complains so much of the new girl that I shall discharge her the moment I can get another." "Certainly," replied the old lady, cordially. At dinner John said to his wife: "Mary, that new girl seems to be gettin' worse and worse."

Religious Intelligence. "There has been a revival in our town." "Many people converted?" "Oh, yes, and among them twenty pupils of the female college." "How do you know they are converted?" "Because they have declared their determination to flirt with none but divinity students hereafter."

All Sorts.

He is a poor financier who borrows trouble.

"My business is on the boom," is what the sailor remarked as he was furling sail one stormy night.

Some one has said that "she is a good cook who is a bad feeder." If that is true, then cooks of most boarding houses must be very good.

A stand off. A robber met a coal dealer on a lonely road and stopped him. "Your money or your life," said the robber. "Who are you?" asked the coal dealer. "I'm a highwayman," replied the man. "Good enough," continued the coal dealer; "I'm a low-weighman. Shake. We should be friends." And they were.

The cake ordered for an October wedding in New York is to be surmounted by a tower of candy, in which will be live birds. The bride is to break the artificial cage with a tiny hammer and liberate the birds. No doubt some persons will be mean enough to insinuate that if the bride had baked the cake she would have been obliged to use a sledge hammer to break it.

Under a new law in Italy any circus which does not fully perform every act promised in the printed programme, or which misleads the public by means of pictures, is fined $300 for each offence. Such a law suddenly sprung upon circuses in this country, before they had time to get new posters printed, would make the evening's performance last twenty-four hours, which would sadly interfere with the show in the adjoining county on the following day.

"The shades of night' are never hung on rollers." Then why were they "falling fast" if they were not hung on rollers? That is the way curtains always do.—Puck. We'll enlighten you. The "shades of night" referred to by the poet were the old Venetian blind brand, which worked with a cord. Frequently when this cord was pulled a little too impulsively, the whole business came down in an unexpected crash—that is, the blind "fell fast."

"No, sir," declared Schoppenstedt positively, "I don't take any stock in all this talk about mind-reading. It is all bosh, every bit of it. I'll defy any man living to read my mind. It's an absolute impossibility, sir; an absolute impossibility." "But, dear," gently interrupted Mrs. Schoppenstedt, "you ought not to be quite so positive. Science has been making wonderful strides, you know, in the last few years. Why, I was reading only the other day of a wonderful microscope which would show over 112,000 lines drawn in the space of an inch wide."

Going into Battle.

Said Capt. George W. Stone: "I don't believe any man ever went into battle without feeling frightened. I know I never did. I'll tell you when a man feels real badly. It's when he is forming his men into line for a big battle while a little skirmishing fire is kept up all the time. Every minute or so some one, may be your best friend, standing right next to you will shriek out, 'Oh, my God,' and fall back dead, yet you can not let your men fire, for the army must be drawn up first. There is plenty of time to think. You don't dare to retaliate in any way. The next bullet may find your heart, and your children will be left fatherless. It is a moment that tries the bravest man, because he has to stand quietly and take it all.

"But when the order comes to fight and the excitement of the battle arises, fear passes away. You have something to do, You have a duty to perform at any cost. Bullets drive into the ground at your feet, sending up little clouds of dust; they whistle past your ears and maybe cut holes in your clothing. Shells and shrapnel kill your comrades and save you living, and soon there comes a feeling that some good fortune has preserved you and will protect you, and the desire to do as much damage to the enemy alone fills your mind. That was my experience in the army, and I don't believe that the man lived who did not feel at the commencement of a fight that he would rather be somewhere else."

Dancing at Long Branch.

Chicago Herald.

The public parlor of a fashionable hotel on a reasonable cool evening is a show place well worth attention. An hour is set apart for dancing by the children, while the adults assemble as spectators, either seated round the sides of the room or on the versands at the doors and windows. The little ones do not mind the scrutiny at all, but frisk as unrestrainedly as though off by themselves in the woods. The costumes of the small girls are usually picturesque, and their stockings almost invariably black; so that while the skirts or bright the legs dance an accentuation that displays grace and nimbleness in a way not seen even in a professional ballet. Tots of 2 or 3 caper in accordance with their own immature notions of fun, misses of 5 or 10 conform in a measure to the instructions of dancing masters, and those girls who lack only a lengthening of petticoats to become young ladies, waltz with a palpable consciousness of their stockings that is quite amusing. The variations of the waltz, new and more elaborate every year, have reached a pitch which makes the scene at times like a stage ballet, and some of the youngsters are as pliable and sinuous as Bonfanti, though unable to tip-toe as painfully, and not encouraged to do so.

Four Men Drowned.

BALTIMORE, November 20.—Capt. Abbott, Robert Treanor, Matt. and Patrick Filly were drowned yesterday afternoon near the mouth of the Patapsco river, as alleged by falling from the deck of the schooner John Nichols. They are said to have fallen together and all sank at the same time. The vessel returned to port and the police have begun an investigation. They were all employed on board the schooner.

Against the Press.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 19.—The suit of Sylvester N. Stewart, against the Press company, limited, to recover damages for an alleged libellous article published in the Press of July 13, 1883, was given to the jury at a late hour yesterday afternoon, after having been on trial before Judge Pierce for a week, and this morning at 10 o'clock a verdict was rendered in favor of the plaintiff for $1,200.

—On Tuesday, November 17, says the Williamsport Gazette and Bulletin, the employes on the Lewisburg and Bellefonte branch of the Philadelphia and Erie railroad were paid for October, The pay car, in charge of Superintendent E. B. Westfall and his chief clerk, Erastus Wright, left Williamsport in the morning at 7:30 and ran down to Montandon, where it took the branch and crossed over to Lewisburg. The following officials of the road accompanied the party to look after business connected with their respective departments. E. S. Harrar, division ticket agent; S. L. Seymour, division freight agent; D R. Davis, civil engineer; H. R. Rhoads, division telegraph operator, and several others. John Gaus, baggage agent, served as conductor, brakeman and flagman. The work of paying commenced at Lewisburg, and at every station, as the car proceeded, the employes were in readiness, and their checks were quickly handed to them by Mr. Wright, who attended to the financial part of the work, until it was completed at Bellefonte. At Centre Hall, and other points in Penn's Valley, parties came aboard the car on invitation of the superintendent and went along to Bellefonte. The latter place was reached about noon, and after the party had dined at the Bush House, they started on the return, and reached Williamsport at 6 o'clock Tuesday evening, after having traveled 196 miles, round trip. The day was delightful throughout, and as the car swept through the rich agricultural valleys traversed by the railroad, all on board expressed themselves as delighted with the scenery and the journey.

—One of the fairest young lady residents of this county was married on Tuesday evening, November 17, at the home of her aunt, Mrs. D. M. Brumgard, of Church street, Lock Haven. The young lady was Miss Mary A. Hillibish, of Rebersburg, this county. The gentleman to whom she pledged her heart and affections was Mr. John B. Reed, a prominent wholesale boot and shoe merchant of Philadelphia. Rev. W. B. Glanding pastor of the English Lutheran church, Lock Haven, officiated, and Miss Gay Throne, of Lock Haven, and Mr. Matthew Creswell, Jr., of Overbrook, Philadelphia, were bridesmaid and groomsman, respectively. The bride and bridesmaid were attired in white silk costumes, beautifully ornamented with natural flowers. The bride and groom departed for a month's wedding tour and will locate in West Philadelphia.

—On Thursday, Nov. 12, Mr. S. W. Smith, an employe in the Reporter office at Centre Hall, was married to Miss Jennie L. Kuhn, of Boalsburg. Mr. Smith is a fine young gentleman. He is well and favorably known in Bellefonte and was always popular with the fair sex We wish him and his fair bride much happiness.

—The men engaged in digging up the street at the steam heat connections show much industry and a reckless disregard of the presence of darkness. Late into the night they gather around that hole in the ground, continuing their work with the aid of light from lanterns. It requires energetic and unremiting work to prepare for winter.

—Hon. L. A. Mackey, of Lock Haven, who may be the next Democratic Congressman to represent this district, spent Friday in Bellefonte.

—H. H. Whitney, of Stormstown, is conducting an excellent private school in Philipsburg.

A Dangerous Alliance.

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 20.—Dispatches from Battleford say that the southern and northern tribes of Indians are on the point of forming an alliance to sweep the whole country from the far north to the boundary line, massacreing the inhabitants and destroying their homes. From information obtained from runners who have been among the various tribes it is predicted that the trouble may come at any moment. The government was warned very much in the same manner of the Saskatchewan trouble, but neglected to take precautionary measures until too late.

Bulgarians.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—The Bulgarian forces stationed at Slivnitza, headed by Prince Alexander in person, made a sortie from that place at an early hour this morning, and after several hours' desperate fighting, succeeded in driving the Servians from all positions held by them and menacing Slivnitza. The presence of the prince greatly inspired the Bulgarians and they fought with more dash and valor than has yet been displayed by them in any of their encounters with the enemy.

Killed by a Falling Wall.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—While firemen were engaged to-day in bracing the walls of the burned Empire mills, 2125 Bethane street, the front wall suddenly fell. Mrs. Mary Kuhn, who was picking kindling wood, was instantly killed. Archie Georgie, James Raffie and George Morivaria, Italians, were probably fatally injured and several others received severe injuries. There were a number of narrow escapes.

Dip one end of a Sponge in Water and the whole will soon be saturated. So a disease in one part of the body affects other parts. You have noticed this yourself. Kidney and liver troubles, unless checked, will induce constipation, piles, rheumatism and gravel. A timely use of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy will prevent these results. It is pleasant to the taste and may be taken freely by children and delicate females. It gives elasticity, life and cheeks with roses on them.

Medical, Etc.

Only Temperance Bitters Known.

VINEGAR BITTERS

VEGETABLE — FREE FROM — PURELY — CALIFORNIA — ALCOHOL

DR. WALKER'S — EUREKA

VINEGAR BITTERS

No other medicine known so effectually purges the blood of deep-seated diseases.

Millions bear testimony to its wonderful curative effects.

It is a purely Vegetable Preparation, made from the native herbs and roots of California, the medicinal properties of which are extracted therefrom without the use of Alcohol.

It removes the cause of disease, and the patient recovers his health.

It is the great Blood Purifier and Life-giving Principle; a Gentle Purgative and Tonic; a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the system. Never before in the history of the world has a medicine been compounded possessing the power of VINEGAR BITTERS in healing the sick of every disease man is heir to.

The Alterative, Aperient, Diaphoretic, Carminative, Nutritious, Laxative, Sedative, Counter-Irritant, Sudorific, Anti-Bilious, Solvent, Diuretic and Tonic properties of VINEGAR BITTERS exceed those of any other medicine in the world.

No person can take the BITTERS according to directions and remain long unwell, provided their bones are not destroyed by mineral poison or other means, and the vital organs wasted beyond the point of repair.

Bilious, Remittent, Intermittent and Malarial Fevers, are prevalent throughout the United States, particularly in the valleys of our great rivers and their vast tributaries during the Summer and Autumn, especially during seasons of unusual heat and dryness.

These Fevers are invariably accompanied by extensive derangement of the stomach, liver and bowels. In their treatment, a purgative, exerting a powerful influence upon these organs, is absolutely necessary.

There is no cathartic for the purpose equal to Dr. J. WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS, as it will speedily remove the dark-colored viscid matter with which the bowels are loaded, at the same time stimulating the secretions of the liver, and generally restoring the healthy functions of the digestive organs.

Fortify the body against disease by purifying all its fluids with VINEGAR BITTERS. No epidemic can take hold of a system thus forearmed.

It Invigorates the Stomach and stimulates the torpid Liver and Bowels, cleansing the blood of all impurities, imparting life and vigor to the frame, and carrying off without the aid of Calomel, or other minerals, all poisonous matter from the system.

Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Pneumonia, Dizziness, Bad Taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are at once relieved by VINEGAR BITTERS.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism, Gout, Neuralgia, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys and Bladder, the Bitters have no equal. In these, as in all constitutional Diseases, WALKER'S VINEGAR BITTERS has shown its great curative powers in the most obstinate and intractable cases.

Mechanical Diseases.—Persons engaged in Paints and Minerals, such as Plumbers, Type-setters, Gold-beaters, and Miners, as they advance in life, are subject to Paralysis of the Bowels. To guard against this, take occasional doses of VINEGAR BITTERS.

Skin Diseases, Scrofula, Salt Rheum, Ulcers, Swellings, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-worms, Scald-head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations, Humors and diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of the Bitters.

Pin, Tape and other Worms, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. No system of medicine, no vermifuges, no anthelmintics, will free the system from worms like VINEGAR BITTERS.

Measles, Scarlet Fever, Mumps, Whooping Cough, and all children's diseases may be made less severe by keeping the bowels open with mild doses of the Bitters.

For Female Complaints, in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood, or the turn of life, this Bitters has no equal.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood when its impurities burst through the skin in Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul; your feelings will tell you when, and the health of the system will follow.

In conclusion: Give the Bitters a trial. It will speak for itself. One bottle is a better guarantee of its merits than a lengthy advertisement.

Around each bottle are full directions printed in different languages.

The Sharpless Murder.

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 24.—The murder of John Sharpless, the venerable Quaker of Chester on Sunday night, November 22, was one of the most horrible on record. He was lured from his home to help, as he supposed, those who were in trouble. Then he was cruelly murdered by the one whom he intended to befriend. A large reward should be offered for the murderer and when caught he should be hanged without the formalities of law. The murdered man did not have an enemy in the world and was at the head of one of the most prominent and peace-loving families in the State. His ancestors came to this country with William Penn.

CHESTER, Pa., Nov. 24.—The Sharpless murder is still the absorbing topic in this locality. The delay in arresting the murderer and the fact that such a fiend should be at large causes considerable uneasiness. The Chester police department is very vigilant in the matter, are now working out clues that may lead to the arrest of the murderer. Chief-of-Police Williamson, of this city, failed to identify the three men arrested in Philadelphia, and they were discharged. The watch which it was thought the murderer took from the dead man has been found in the house. The fiend, therefore, obtained nothing by his brutal crime. The funeral of the murdered man will take place on Thursday. Mrs. Sharpless adheres to her first description that the man was not colored, and says she would have no trouble in identifying him. The coroner's jury has adjourned its investigation to await further developments. James E Page, a colored man, was arrested at the farm in Thornberry township to-night and lodged in the Media jail on suspicion of being the murderer.

Proved Fatal.

Special to the Tribune of Altoona.

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Nov. 24.—Particulars of probably the most distressing accident that has occurred in this county for years have just reached here from Black Log valley, a remote district in the lower end of the county. On Saturday afternoon last John Barkley, a prosperous and industrious farmer living about four miles above Valley Point, was on his way home when he met Martin Parson, a neighbor, who was at work in his fields, nearly two miles from his house. Mr Barkley stopped and engaged in conversation for several minutes with Mr Parsons, and when preparing to resume his journey the latter innocently drew a revolver from his pocket and after handing it to Mr. Barkley asked him what he thought of it. The weapon was a self-cocking 32 calibre revolver, a most dangerous instrument in the hands of inexperienced men. After examining the revolver Mr Barkley passed it back, when in some unaccountable manner it was accidentally discharged, the ball penetrating Mr. Barkley's abdomen, causing what proved to be a fatal wound.

Assistance was immediately summoned and the injured man removed to his home, two miles distant from the scene of the accident, where he lingered in great agony until 1 o'clock Sunday afternoon, when he died. The two men had enjoyed the closest friendly relations for years, which tinges the affair with a peculiar sadness. Mr. Parsons is almost frenzied with grief and a shadow of gloom hangs over the whole community. The remains of Mr. Barkley were interred this afternoon. He was about 26 years of age and leaves a wife and two children.

How the War is Progressing.

LONDON, Nov. 23.—A dispatch from Belgrade announces that after a stiff battle yesterday afternoon the Servians were driven out of Dragoman Pass by Bulgarians, who then occupied the pass. The Servian headquarters have been removed to Tzaribrod. In the fight on the 17th, 18th and 19th the Servians had 11 officers killed and 22 wounded.

A dispatch from Tzaribrod says the Bulgarians have massacred the Servian Lieutenant Kokitch, who was found on the field of battle wounded, and the Servian Lieutenants Schvitke and Ratkovich, who were prisoners of war. Thirty carriages, containing about 1,200 wounded soldiers, arrived at Belgrade yesterday. The queen's sister, Princess Ghilka personally attended to the sufferers and gave them refreshments and tobacco. A large number of ladies assisted her in the work. Every building in the city is crowded with wounded soldiers. Dragoman Pass is blocked with snow, and the roads across the mountains are impassable. The Drina division forced its way through after a hand to hand struggle in Saturday's fight and joined the main army before Slivitza.

The Servians have besieged Widdin. A battle was fought yesterday, which was without decisive result. The porte has proposed an armistice. It is reported that Prince Alexander is unwilling to listen to the proposition until he has expelled the Servians from Bulgaria. The people of Phillippopolis continue to manifest great enthusiasm. Recruiting is going on actively. Numerous officials have resigned to go to the war.

Jay Cooke's Dwelling Robbed.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 24.—The dwelling of Jay Cooke, at Chelton Hills, Montgomery county, was entered by thieves last night and thoroughly ransacked. Diamonds and other jewelry valued at $2,500 was stolen. Detectives of this city were at work on the case.

Three Persons Burned to Death.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The accidental upsetting of a kerosene lamp in the rooms of Otto Matobieck, on the third floor of the five story tenement 404 East street, early this morning, was the signal for agonizing scenes of terror and death. The house and one adjoining were filled with Bohemian cigarmakers employed in a neighboring factory. One hundred and fifty people slept soundly when the cry of fire was raised. The flames had communicated to the floors above through convenient air shafts.

A scene of wild confusion and panic ensued. The frightened tenants took to the fire escapes with all haste, and those who escaped were given shelter by the neighbors, while the firemen were fighting the flames. This was not an easy task, as the upper stories and the roof were ablaze, and the flames had spread to No 406. Reinforcements were then summoned and the fire was quickly subdued. About $15,000 damage was done to the building and the property of the tenants.

There had been some narrow escapes, and two women with their children were reported to have been slightly burned, but the firemen were not prepared to find that a whole family had been lost. On an upper floor of No. 404 they found the bodies of Mary Tialka, a widow, 40 years old, and her two daughters, Mary, aged 7, and Annie, aged 6. They were burned to a crisp, and were lying close to a window leading to a fire escape when found.

Moody at Chester.

CHESTER, Nov. 22.—D L. Moody, the evangelist, opened a three days' convention in this city to-day. Armory Hall, the largest in Chester, has been secured, and seats placed in it for fifteen hundred people. The first meeting was held at 10 o'clock yesterday morning, and upwards of 1,200 people went to hear him. Professor Towner, the celebrated singer, was with Mr. Moody, and he gave some fine solos. Professor John R. Sweney, of the Military Academy, had trained a choir of one hundred voices, and this rendered some very sweet music. Mr. Moody appeared in excellent spirits, notwithstanding his constant work for several weeks, and delivered an interesting address on "The Christian and His Bible."

In the afternoon another meeting was held, the attendance being much larger than the morning session, and Mr. Moody delivered an address on the Holy Spirit. In the evening his address was to men only. To-day he will hold four meetings—at 8 45 a. m. for non church goers; at 3.30 p. m. for women only and at 7 30 p. m. for men only. The singing of Professor Sweney and his choir is an attractive feature.

Great Oil Find.

RENOVO, Nov. 22.—It was rumored a week ago that oil had been struck at Kane Excitement ran high in the little town and speculators flocked from everywhere. A man named Cleminger had leased land three miles southwest of the town and put down a well. After drilling 1,400 feet oil was found and the well was plugged. It has remained thus until to-day, when the plug flew out and the oil also. It was again plugged as soon as possible but not before the speculators discovered that it was a big find. As a consequence the hotels are again crowded and every train brings new recruits. Every one wants to buy land and no one wants to sell. James McDade, who owns 600 acres near where the oil was found, has refused $50,000 for it. The Western Union Telegraph Company has fitted up an office in the Thompson House at Kane, where two hundred oil men from Bradford, Warren, Titusville and Oil City are quartered. It is the general impression that this will be the greatest oil field of modern times.

Capture of a Murderer.

DENVER, November 21. About a mile above Delta Station, on the Denver and Rio Grande road, William Whalen had left his wife on their ranch while he, with his three sons, went on a hunting trip. Stopping with Mrs. Whalen was Mrs. Cameron, wife of J. A. Cameron, a dissolute character. Yesterday Cameron quarrelled with the woman and his wife fled the house. After her flight he shot and killed Mrs. Whalen, her body falling into the fire-place, where it was badly burned. Cameron visited one of the neighboring houses in search of his wife, threatening to kill her if he found her. He was finally captured and at once taken to Montrose for safe keeping, as the officers feared that summary punishment would be dealt out to him.

National Base Ball Club.

WASHINGTON, D. C., November 21.—A meeting of the stockholders of the National base ball club was held here this evening with closed doors. A general organization of the club took place, and then business contracts with the eastern league were wound up. It is said that capital stock of the club has been materially increased. Manager Scanlan, after the meeting, said that everything had been satisfactorily arranged, and that all they had to do now would be to sign their players, some of whom had already attached their signatures to contracts.

Texas Cure for Tramps.

GALVESTON, Nov. 22.—A special dispatch from Denton says that fifteen tramps who were confined in the calaboose there for refusing to work were waited upon Friday night by a mob of unknown men who over-powered the guards and took the tramps out, administered thirty-nine lashes, well laid on, to each and then told them to "git." They "got," and not a tramp is seen in Denton and no more are expected this season.

Town Marshal Killed.

WHEELING, W. Va, Nov. 22.—Joseph McConnaughey, town marshal of Bridgeport, was shot at this morning by Silas Consway, a miner. Consway was arrested by the marshal for violating the game laws and escaped from the lock-up. When McConnaughey attempted to recapture him Consway fired, inflicting a fatal wound. The murderer is still at large.

The War in Burmah.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—The British expeditionary force has captured Magwe, a town of Burmah, on the Irrawaddi river, thirty-five miles above Prone. Among the prisoners taken were three Italian officers serving in the Burmese army. General Prendergast is now at Membo. He states that fighting is expected at Sagaing.

EASTON, Pa., November 22.—William Fogle, aged 21 years, was lodged in jail here last night, charged with blowing up a building at Danielsville, Northampton county, on last Wednesday night and causing the death of Jacob Snyder. Snyder was engineer at the slate quarry and went in the boiler house at night. There was a large box in the building containing dynamite cartridges and it is alleged that the same was exploded by Fogle. Snyder's body was blown to pieces.

MCKEESPORT, November 22.—The petition of the National tube works that the twenty per cent taken off their wages last winter be restored, was presented to the general manager yesterday, who informed the committee that it was the intention to advance wages next week. This satisfied the workingmen, and no strike will take place.

MONTREAL, Nov. 22.—The entire adult population of Ste. Marthe Village to-day voluntarily assembled in church and pledged themselves to abstain from alcoholic beverages for the space of one year. The village has a population of 2,000 persons.

ERIE, Nov. 22.—Stewart Banister, a county officer, was crushed to death while lumbering. He and his son felled a tree and a part of the tree fell back, catching banister and crushing him into the earth. The young man was badly injured.

CHATTANOOGA, Nov. 22.—The Colored Orphans' home in this city was destroyed by fire this morning. Fifty-four children were inside the building when it took fire, but all were rescued without accident.

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A tornado swept over the Philippine Islands yesterday. Eight thousand buildings, including numerous churches and school houses, were destroyed, and twenty-two persons were killed.

A Bellefonter Corrects the "Century."

The following letter from Bellefonte appeared in the New York Evening Post of Thursday, Nov. 19:

VISITORS TO THE CITY OF PETRA.

To the Editor of the Evening Post:

SIR: In the November number of the Century magazine we have a very graphic description of a photographer's visit to Petra, whose notes are ably edited by Mr. Thomas W. Ludlow. Will you permit me space to correct the photographer's information as to the number of English and American visitors to that remote and ancient city "since 1860?"

Of the writer's knowledge, the Hon. E. Jay Morris (United States Minister at Constantinople) was twice a visitor to Petra since the date indicated, and has left somewhere among his papers valuable notes touching his researches.

Mr. Mifflin, now of the firm of Messrs. Houghton, Mifflin & Co., of Cambridge, Mass., was a visitor in the early spring of 1867. So too were Mr. James Milliken, of this place, and a number of others. Mr. Wilson, the photographer, is also in error as to the first photographs taken of Petra. The first were taken by Mr. Frith, of London, in the winter of 1866, and a most valuable collection of the first prints of these negatives is now in possession of Mr. Milliken. Mr. Milliken brought with him from Petra many specimens of the rocks of that wonderful city, which show their colors and character, and these, I have reason to know, he is ever ready to exhibit to the antiquarian and to those who are curious.

From the facility with which, from the photographs presented and the descriptions of the place that visitors furnish, we may trace the rise of architecture from the cave-dwellers in the rocks up to that of the latest Roman, I should be disposed to question the accuracy of the period of date affixed by Mr. Ludlow, and am inclined to think that the Phœnician and the Roman, no less than the Greek, borrowed from Petra.

BELLEFONTE, Pa., Nov. 18. L.

Adventure of a Clearfield County Hunter.

One of the Nimrods of Bellefonte, knowing a reporter's desire for hunting adventures at this particular time of year, told him on Saturday how Charley Fowler, of DuBois, last season, performed the double feat of getting lost when two miles from camp, shooting a bear and wounding another, all in one day.

Mr. Fowler and several others spent a few days in the woods in quest of deer and bears. They were along the line between Clearfield and Elk counties at head of Mosquito Creek and and Medix run. The snow that covered the ground enabled them to track the deer. Charley took a course down Medix run a short distance and then away from it. The tracks led him around a large briar patch and in looking through it he observed what he supposed to be two men standing on an old log slide. He believed the men were looking at him and was sure that one of them had a gun. He whistled and hallooed at them to let them know that he was not a deer to shoot at, when they began to move. Then, to his surprise, he discovered that the two moving objects were bears. He began to shoot and killed one bear, wounding the other. He was then only two miles from camp, but he wandered around six miles before he reached the camp at 10 o'clock at night. Meanwhile, his fellow-hunters had been shooting and had built a large fire to guide him in returning to camp. When he told them his success in killing a bear they were well satisfied.

The hero of this story is a nephew of John DuBois, of DuBois City, and is general manager of the largest store in Clearfield county, employing ten clerks.

Bears are reported to be very numerous in the vicinity of Mosquito Creek and Medix Run. They root up the woods like hogs in search of acorns.

—The principal iron dealers of Philadelphia feel hopeful of the continued prosperous condition of the trade. Speaking on this subject recently James M. Swank, Secretary of the American Iron and Steel Association, said: "There is no boom; there has been no boom in iron or steel. There has been a slight rise in pig iron, and bar iron, but it was very slight. In steel rails there has been an advance of five dollars a ton, that is they have gone up from twenty-seven to thirty two dollars. There was a slight rise in the price of nails. But in many forms of rolled iron there has been no advance. For the past three months there has been a greater demand for all kinds of iron and steel than during the earlier months of the year. This demand still continues and prices are firm at present quotations; nobody anticipates a boom in either iron or steel. Our trade has a healthy outlook."

Great Jollity in Eagleville.

The residence of Mr. William Snyder of Eagleville was the scene of festivity and hilarity on last Friday evening. About forty of the fairest sons and daughters of Beech Creek were there entertained in the most delightful manner and doubtless a long time will elapse before the pleasant scenes of that evening will be be forgotten. One of the most interesting and enjoyable features of the evening's programme was a choice and elegant course of refreshments, which proved a fitting climax for the evening's joyousness. The party continued its festivities until the "wee hours of the morning," signalled the time of departure. Among those conspicuous in contributing to the entertainment of the evening were the Misses Cora, Maud and Mame Snyder, Carrie Quigley, and the Misses Clark and Messrs. Gardner, Snyder, Mobley and Thompson. S. S. S.

An Excellent New York Paper.

Among the newspapers of New York City which have in any sense a national circulation, especially among the Republican press of that city, the Tribune now ranks undeniably foremost. Owing to its persistent discussion of measures affecting the development of the varied resources of the country and the business welfare of the people The Tribune is a paper that is read by men of all parties and with profit to all. It is certainly a strong, complete, valuable newspaper, the most formidable foe among the press the Democrats have to contend with, the strongest stay of the Republican cause. It is also one of the safest papers that can be taken into the home to be read by the family. It will not corrupt the taste of growing minds. As the country turns more and more to the discussion of those practical questions of public policy bearing upon business interests, the Tribune will come more and more into popular demand. It is a greater paper now than it ever was before. See prospectus of the Tribune in another column on some new and interesting features for the coming year.

—Mr. W. H. Wike, the boss machinist at the Tow Hill Ore mines, was in town on Tuesday. He came to see the Superintendent, Mr. Pierpoint. He was unable to communicate with him by telephone as the wires are down. It is fortunate that something occurs to bring Mr. Wike to Bellefonte occasionally, as he is a very pleasant gentleman.

Chronic Looseness of the Bowels results from imperfect digestion. The cause lies in the torpidity of the liver. A regular habit of body can be secured by taking Simmons Liver Regulator to aid digestion, to stimulate the dull and sluggish liver and rid the system of excessive and poisonous bile. The Regulator corrects acidity of the stomach, cures dyspepsia and permanently creates regularity of the bowels alike free from laxity or costiveness.

The Grand Aims of Life

Are nullities to the chronic invalid. What to him are the rewards of ambition, the accumulation of fortune, or the fruition of domestic happiness? The zest of life is gone, its aims are dead. Well for him if all this is not irretrievable—if his malady is not of the deep seated organic sort which forbids hope of cure. For many of the ills to which flesh is heir, formerly supposed to be incurable Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is a sovereign remedy. Among them are dyspepsia, chronic constipation, rheumatism, debility and nervousness. These are remediable with the grand restorative, which does the work thoroughly, striking at the root of the evils to the removal of which it is adapted. By insuring activity and purity of the circulation, inducing a healthy flow of the bile, and promoting a regular habit of body, it fortifies the system against malaria. It is also useful as a diuretic.

—We were talking on Monday about the "music which soothes the savage beast," when Wash Rees inquired if that's the reason dogs sometimes have a brass band around their necks?

ROUGHING IT.

Four Girls Travel Through Kansas, and One of Them Writes about it to Her Friends in Pennsylvania.

Perhaps there are some of the readers of the REPUALICAN who have never had a taste of frontier life, and to those a short history of a trip to the front by one formerly of your vicinity may be interesting. A few days ago, aboard the west bound train, might have been seen a party of six, composed of four ladies and two gentlemen. We were destined for wherever we might stop. We left Southern Kansas on the 2 p. m. train and made our first change of cars at Wellington. From thence we journeyed to Newton where we took supper, the place where we stopped being the finest eating house on the Santafee railroad. All passengers going east and west stop there for breakfast and supper; and as eating will be one of my principal efforts, I must say to people coming west, don't fail to take a meal at Newton, you will get the worth of your money.

We were now on board the Santafee and comfortably located for the night. Our accommodations were such as are doubtless familiar to you all, viz., a satchel for a pillow and a shawl strap for a foot stool. Of course, we enjoyed the night's rest, but were aroused about four o'clock in the morning, by the call of "Garden City," and soon we were out promenading the streets and hunting lodging for the remainder of the night. We found our way to the Buffalo House, where every room and corner were already packed. But as there, we were highly favored and ushered into the parlor, while the gentlemen were furnished chairs by the stove. Upon entering our room we saw only an organ and table which we feared would make rather uncomfortable sleeping, but as we remembered that we were in the West and ready for any emergency we were about to make the best of it, when, much to our surprise, the furniture was unfolded and four girls were soon in the land of dreams, only to be annoyed at an early hour by the cry, "All aboard for Scott County!"

After all necessary preparations for a carriage drive of forty miles due north over a vast, unbroken prairie, we were greeted with a snow storm, followed by as cold a day as December ever furnished in Pennsylvania. We did not feel exactly storm-proof, so after counting our money, became reconciled to the weather, and spent the day taking in which is the metropolis of Western Kansas, lying on the Santafee railroad, seventy miles east of Colorado.

Until within the last six months it was only a station. Now it has a population of over one thousand and business equal to that of a city in Pennsylvania. The Buffalo Hotel was built by a man who made his fortune in buffalo hunting. The building is of stone, as white as marble and found in abundance in that county (Finney). The land in that vicinity and further west is just beginning to be settled—taken up in homesteading, tree claims and preemptions. I presume I need not go into details concerning these affairs, as Kansas is by no means a new theme in the East, and you are doubtless all familiar with the various ways we have of getting a few acres ou here. We spent another night in the "Eden of the World" and by that time were induced to go west and "grow up with the country." Next morning by five o'clock and without any breakfast we were packed in the caboose of a freight train, at the rate of a mile in two hours, whiling our time away with that familiar game in the West known as euchre. Finally we reached Syracuse, another new town on the same road, and just seventeen miles east of the State. Here we were again greeted with one of the stormiest days Kansas can afford and were compelled to crawl behind the stove for another day.

WENDING OUR WAY WESTWARD

And now we are beginning to see a little of the Far West. We stopped at the Dunington House, a small frame structure with skylights between each of the boards—no lath and no plaster. A few beds that one might have supposed were filled with stones, had it been in the East; but here we don't have any, so I will not attempt. Suffice it to say, every foot of floor was filled, and those who couldn't swear got up and sat by the fire. The

of our journey found us on our way toward the North pole, with a trip of thirty-five miles ahead of us and not even a track to follow, but an occasional mound that had been thrown up by our guide. We traveled over an uninhabited country, never seeing even a dug-out, but our attention was very often attracted to wild animals and fowls, among which were antelopes, wild horses, a bear, foxes, sack rabbits, prairie chickens, etc. As we were supposed to be the we thought it quite an adventure and felt very proud of our bravery. We were satisfied in having seen the loveliest country in America—a prairie covered with a mass of Buffalo grass and as level as a floor, with a mirage constantly in view, almost compelling one to believe that snow-capped mountains and beautiful lakes were within a distance of two or three miles.

Toward evening we were informed that we were in the centre of Greeley county and on the town site of "Cheraqua," where our guide has erected a mansion 12 by 20 feet and principally underground. We thought we had and as it was then Saturday night, and we had a minister in our company thought it best to camp for the Sabbath.

Now I wish any of the readers of this article could have the pleasant experience of those two nights and one day spent in a dug-out. Am sure four girls will always remember it as one of the bright spots of their history. The household consisted of seven men, one old gentleman acting as cook. The table 3 by 5 (for fifteen of us) was set without spread and with tin plates, tin cups and tin spoons. Some of you may wonder how we could eat; but just recall a picnic appetite, then you will not be surprised that after on the prairie we could eat anything and in any style. At night we girls climbed a ladder up the wall to a loft, where we slept very comfortably, the only light to illume our pathway in the morning being that of the sun shining through a knot-hole.

Sunday we spent viewing the country preparatory to selecting claims, which we succeeded in doing early Monday morning, when we started homeward bound. We arrived in Syracuse the same evening, and by noon the next day were back to the starting point, each being the happy possessor of 320 acres of Greeley county land.

Cigars and Tobacco.

A subscriber writes: The "Words of Warning" in your paper, a short time since, were timely, and every mother should rejoice at such words; they cannot be too forcible, nor too carefully heeded.

In city or in country-town, you can hardly pass a group of idle boys without noticing one or more of them smoking; the very little ones envying those who are older and consequently able to indulge. Speak to them about it: some will listen respectfully, but most will regard your words as nonsense. They see no harm in it, and will very likely tell you that men use it.

Boys, listen!

1st. You cannot afford it. It takes a great deal of money and you need the money for better things. Many mothers and sisters are deprived of life's comforts because the husbands and brothers spend so much money for tobacco.

2nd. You injure your health; body and mind are weakened and debased. Health and vigor will be needed for the work you have before you in the world—do not wastefully destroy them. Merchants, turn out from your stores these hurtful things, which perhaps you would not wish your own boys to use, and deal only in things useful.

And ye fathers, what is your example? Little boys on every hand seeing you indulging in this habit are saying, "Is it worse for me?" A MOTHER.

Medical, Etc.

Catarrh

Is undoubtedly caused by impure blood. Hence a medicine which purifies the blood removes the cause of the disease and opens the way for a thorough cure. This is exactly what Hood's Sarsaparilla does, and it makes the cure complete by giving the system health and strength, and enabling it to throw off the depressing effects of the disease.

Catarrh

Is permanently cured by Hood's Sarsaparilla. Mr. A. Ball, Syracuse, N. Y., says: "Hood's Sarsaparilla has helped me more for catarrh and impure blood than anything I ever used."

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla for catarrh, and think it has done me a great deal of good. I recommend it to all within my reach. Hood's Sarsaparilla has been worth everything to me." LUTHER D. ROBBINS, East Thompson, Conn.

Catarrh

May be breaking down your health. Be wise in time! That flow from the nose, ringing noise in the ears, pain in the head, inflammation of the throat, cough, and nervous prostration will be cured if you take Hood's Sarsaparilla.

"I had been troubled by general debility, caused by catarrh and humors. Hood's Sarsaparilla proved just the thing needed. I derived an immense amount of benefit from it." H. F. MILLETT, Boston, Mass.

NOW IS YOUR TIME!

DON'T WAIT,

For You won't Soon have the opportunity again

WE ARE BOUND TO REALIZE UPON OUR IMMENSE STOCK OF

STOVES

And for the balance of the season we are going to sell them REGARDLESS OF PROFIT. Come soon, while the assortment is not broken too much. Our opposition will tell you we don't mean it, but our answer is try us and see for yourselves.

WE HAVE ALSO AN ELEGANT LINE OF

Horse Blankets, Lap Blankets and Robes

WHICH WILL BE SOLD LOW.

Our stock is, and always will be, kept full and complete in all its details. It is not our intention to close out our business, but we are going to unload a large portion of our surplus stock. It will be to our customers', friends' and enemies' interest not to overlook this opportunity. Big profits and long credits are dead and buried with us. We imagine ourselves just beginning life anew, and don't wish to remember our old methods of doing business, and are giving our whole time and attention exclusively to the Hardware business.

H. K. HICKS & BRO.

We will not refuse credit to responsible parties for goods on 30 days' time—this we consider cash—and when we grant this we want it distinctly understood that at the expiration of that time the account must be paid. We don't intend to exhaust what little profit we have made by sending statement after statement to each one that owes an account that is due, but will send one, and to avoid offense and misunderstanding we explain publicly in this manner what we mean, so don't ask for credit unless you fully intend to live up to our terms.

Bulgaria and Servia.

LONDON, Nov. 19.—Bulgaria is denuding the Turkish frontier of troops, and is sending all her available forces to the front to combat the Servians. The public are allowed to go to the depots en route to see their relatives and friends. Many of the villagers tramp long distance and wait at the depots several hours, and in some cases, whole days and nights, in order to see their friends and give them flowers and presents. Prince Alexander's success before Slivnitza has revived the courage of those going to the front, and they undergo extreme hardships with remarkable fortitude. In many places they are compelled to march long distances in bad weather, and at night camp in open spaces where they are shelterless, not having even the ordinary tent to protect them from the severity of the weather.

BELGRADE, Nov. 19.—An account from Tzaribrod, the Servian headquarters, of the battle yesterday before Slivnitza, states that the Servians were unable to bring their full strength into action, and were thus defeated and compelled to withdraw to Dragoman Pass. The junction of the Danube, Drima and Shumalia divisions with the second class reserves will be completed to-day. This will bring forty-eight more battallions of infantry into action together.

A dispatch from Tzaribrod says that two Bulgarian battallions were defeated in an engagement with the Servians on the road between Bresnik and Pernik. The Bulgarians lost 250 men killed and wounded. The Servians captured sixty prisoners and a quantity of ammunition and provisions.

An Old Lady's Peculiar Exaction.

CHICAGO, Nov. 20.—A peculiar case is now on trial before Judge Tuley in this city. The prayer is to have the court pass on an unusual condition which Miss Mary Virginia Dunham exacted of her nephew in return for a trust of property which will amount to $27,000 on his arrival at maiority. She conveyed the property to David E. Bradley as trustee in November, 1883. The nephew is John Dunham Roloson, a son of Mr. Robert W. Roloson, a board of trade man. He is now 7 years of age. The proceeds of the property of Miss Dunham, who is a maiden aunt, the sister of his deceased mother, was to come to him in three payments during his life until he was 21 years of age.

The condition which the old lady exacted was that the boy should visit her at stated times. His father opposed the visits because, it is stated, they tend to alienate the boy's affection from him. He prohibited them altogether, and they were never made. The boy will lose the money thus peculiarly given to him unless he makes the visits, and in his interest the trustees ask the court to make an order allowing them.

Destructive Prairie Fires.

WICHITA FALLS, Texas, Nov. 19.—Information has been received here of destructive prairie fires in Indian territory, especially in the section lying north of the Red river station. As near as can be learned the fire started at Wild Horse creek, about forty miles north of Red River station and burned down to the bottom lands of the Red river, and thence to Beaver creek, thirteen miles west of Red River station The eastern limits of fire are not known, but it is believed that the fire belt is from forty to sixty miles wide. The loss to cattlemen is placed as high as $400,000.

Four Roads Seeking Consolidation.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20.—Officials of the four roads covering the territory between Cleveland, Sandusky, Cincinnati, Chicago, Indianapolis and St. Louis, consisting of the Lake Erie and Western, Cincinnati and Indianapolis, Chicago and St. Louis and the Cleveland, Columbus Cincinnati and Indianapolis, were in this city yesterday conferring as to the pool of the earnings of those roads and a consolidated management. At the close of the meeting, assurances were given that the plan was in progress and that no doubt exists of its early completion. The roads have 2,078 miles and are mainly tributary to the Vanderbilt lines.

Mackin.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Joseph C. Mackin was taken from the county jail, to the Illinois State penitentiary at noon today. The offence for which Mackin dons a striped suit is not for his complicity in the election frauds during the Presidential election, but for alleged perjury committed during his trial for the first offense. Mackin was found guilty of complicity in the election frauds and sentenced to the penitentiary, but was given a writ of error, and this case is now before the United States supreme court. The perjury case was appealed to the supreme court of Illinois, which sustained the lower court.

Awakened by a Masked Burglar.

TROY, O., November 19.—At 4 o'clock this morning a masked man entered the house of Mrs. J. Ross, a widow, and stole diamonds and other jewelry worth $1,000. He awoke the lady and made her get $40 from a bureau. Mrs. Ross escaped from the intruder, who grabbed at her and tore her gown off. She then jumped from a second-story veranda, yelling "murder." The police and neighbors assembled, but the thief escaped. He has been tracked in the mud and is certainly "home talent." He talked to the lady for five minutes and she thinks she will know his voice.

Go to Detroit.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—The final meeting of the National Base Ball league was held to-day. The special committee reported in favor of allowing Brouthers, White, Rowe and Richardson, the "big four" to go to Detroit and the report was accepted. No action was taken on the application of the St. Louis club to be allowed to play Sunday games. Washington was admitted to the league in place of Buffalo. Rules in regard to releasing and signing of players were amended giving the league the control of released players for ten days after release.

A Tank Explodes.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 18.—At 8.45 o'clock this morning an oil tank exploded in the Philadelphia Lubricating works, at Swanson and Moore streets The explosion was terrific, the report being heard for half a mile around, and six men working on a scaffold near the still were blown through the air. Alec Bank, one of the workmen, was instantly killed. The other five men, terribly injured, were removed to the Pennsylvania hospital. Thirteen men and a boy are missing. Several of the injured were taken to the University hospital on an engine of the Pennsylvania railroad.

An alarm of fire was struck immediately after the explosion, and engines soon responded and began to pour heavy streams of water upon the flames. A thick cloud of black smoke from the burning oil tanks floated north as far as Kensington, and an immense crowd of people gathered in the vicinity. It is said that the fire caught from a manhole in one of the stills, being left open while the fires were lighted. Several stills full of oil heated to nearly red heat, kept the crowd away, but many of the firemen, carrying long lines of hose, penetrated through the line of fifteen tanks and threw water upon the flames.

The smoke was so dense among the stills that the firemen there at work had to be relieved every few minutes in order to get a breath of fresh air. Every ambulance in the city went to the scene of the explosion, and, although the flames rose higher every minute and the danger of other explosions increased, brave firemen kept up a search in the red hot debris for wounded men. The fire spread so rapidly that danger of the explosion of thirty more tanks was imminent, but at 12.30 o'clock the fire was under control.

A boy named Charles Marshall, aged 12 years, is missing, and is supposed to have been burned to death The force at the works being large, and everything in confusion, facts were hard to obtain.

A later dispatch gives the following details of the disaster: The victims are Alexander Banks, aged 40, residing at No. 119 Mifflin street, burned to a crisp. He was superintendent of the workmen, and had recently come from Pittsburgh Charles Marshall, a boy, aged 12 year, cannot be found: Joseph Robinson, of Delaware, 31 years old, had his entire body terribly burned and cannot possibly recover. Pat Bovies, aged 26, had his head, trunk, and extremities frightfully burned and will die. Charles McLane, aged 29 years, was burned about the head and extremities, and will probably die. Arthur Grueber, aged 29, entire body terribly burned and will die.

At 2 o'clock the body of the boy Henry Marshall, aged 14 years, was recovered from the ruins of the lubricating works and removed to his home, 619 Mifflin street. The loss on property is estimated at between $30,000 and $35,000; insurance. $16,000.

A Fatal Accident.

BATAVIA, O., Nov. 18.—At 5 o'clock this morning a frightful accident occurred at Stone Lick bridge, on the Milford and Chillicothe turnpike, resulting in the drowning of three persons and serious injuries to two others. The accident was brought about in the following manner: Last Thursday David Bingham, a farmer, living near Newtonville, while going to Cincinnati with a load of produce, was dangerously injured by a collision with a runaway team, and is now in a critical condition. Yesterday his daughter, Miley Bigham, aged 18, and his son Milton, aged 13, accompanied by Miss Yeager aged 18, and Charles Paige, aged 19, with Joseph Burkle, of Boston, went down to Terrace Park to see Mr. Bigham and administer to his wants.

At 2 o'clock this morning they started home in their two horse wagon. When they reached Stone Lick, at 4 o'clock, it was pitch dark. The bridge at this point was burned some years ago, and has never been rebuilt. Owing to the darkness the team passed by the cut-off to the ford and came right up to the bridge abutment.

Paige, who was driving, just then realized their position and attempted to turn, and in so doing the team, wagon and five persons were precipitated over the embankment into fifteen feet of water. Burke, Miss Bingham and her brother were drowned, but Paige and Miss Yeager managed to get out.

At Gettysburg.

GETTYSBURG, Nov. 18.—General W. S. Hancock arrived here this evening accompanied by General Francis A. Walker, Colonels Nicholson, Bernard, Batchelder, the battlefield historian, Majors Miller, Coffin, Lambert, Captains Weir, and Paul Roomer, of the United States army, and others. The arrival of the train was greeted with an artillery salute by Post 9, Grand Army of the Republic, and General Hancock was received with great cheering and escorted to the hotel. This evening the General was serenaded by the Grand Army band, after which he held a reception in the parlors of the hotel. The party will visit the battlefield to-morrow and endeavor to locate accurately the position of the different corps on the field.

Couldn't Fool the Court.

WILKESBARRE, Nov. 18.—Daniel F. Seybert, of Salem, Pa., an ex-member of the state legislature, who was recently convicted of assault and battery and larceny was sentenced to-day to pay $50 and undergo ten months' imprisonment in the Luzerne county jail. He sought to secure postponement of sentence by having a message brought into court on Monday to the effect that he had attempted suicide on Sunday by taking laudanum and was dangerously ill. The court, however, sent a detective to his home and had him brought here yesterday on an attachment.

The B. O. Objects.

BALTIMORE, Nov. 19.—President Garrett, of the Baltimore and Ohio, says that in consequence of the refusal of the Pennsylvania railroad company to restore the through train and car service of the Baltimore and Ohio to substantially the basis of 1884, the Baltimore and Ohio can not be a party to the proposed trunk line passenger pool, and Commissioner Fink has been so advised.

Speaker Carlisle.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 19.—Speaker Carlisle was so ill when he arrived here this afternoon that he was obliged to take his bed at once. Visitors are not permitted to see him and cards are not taken to his room.

Briefs.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., Nov. 18.—The supreme court decides that the so called "civil service law" of the state is constitutional. The old police force of this city therefore cannot be removed until written charges are preferred and proved. The old force in July last was put out by common council and a new force appointed. The old force appealed to the courts and were victorious.

CHARLESTON, W. Va., Nov. 18.—An ex-soldier named Drake, near Three Forks, drew several hundred dollars of back pensions a few days ago. The family fell into a quarrel over the distribution of the money, and a general fight ensued, all hands taking part. In the midst of the struggle the old man fell dead from heart disease.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 18.—United States Deputy Marshal Mattingly, of Washington, D. C., arrested Ludwell Gunnell, colored, of Mansfield, Pa., to-day, on the charge of conspiracy to defraud the United States by means of selling coupons issued from the patent office. Gunnell was formerly an employe of that department. He was taken to Washington this afternoon.

NEW YORK, Nov. 18.—N. E. Young was to day re-elected president and secretary of the National base ball league. The day was passed in considering amendments to the constitution and playing rules. The League meets again to-morrow.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—Dr. Frothingham, one of the best known physicians in this city, committed suicide by shooting himself through the head. It is supposed that the deed was done during a temporary attack of insanity. Dr. Frothingham was the physician that brought Charles O'Connor back from death's door when every body else had given up all hope.

LATER.—Further investigation by the family and the police convince both that the Doctor's death was due to accident rather than suicide.

DUBOIS, Nov. 19.—Thomas O'Neal, aged about 17 years, accidently shot and killed his brother, aged 11 years, at Driftwood, last Sunday morning. The young man, who is a cripple, having had a leg amputated by the cars 18 months ago, was examining a rifle which he "didn't know was loaded," when it went off, and the contents lodged in the abdomen of his younger brother. The boy only survived a short time after being shot. The boy's mother is a poor widow.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 19.—A letter postmarked Birmingham England, from Mr. John Rogers, received at his home in this city yesterday, announced that his marriage to Miss Minnie Palmer, the actress, would occur on the 22d of next month. Miss Palmer's provincial tour closes two weeks before Christmas and then she goes to London to become a bride.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—Schaeffer defeated Vignaux to-night in the fourth game of the balk line series by a score of 600 to 507. Highest runs, Schaeffer 152, 110, 97; Vignaux 60, 59, 55; averages, Schaeffer 23 1-13; Vignaux 20 7-25.

REGINA, Nov. 19.—The body of Louis Reil was buried to-day by Father Andre, in the vault underneath the church of the Immaculate Conception, and a guard was placed over the remains.

A Severe Storm.

CHICAGO, Nov. 19.—A severe storm has been raging on this shore of Lake Michigan since last night and the sea is running very high. In consequence a series of disasters are reported and it is feared there are more to be heard from. While trying to make this port three schooners went onto the breakwaters. One was the S. Anderson, lumber laden; another the Peoria, also lumber laden, and the John Kliderhouse, light. The Anderson and Peoria were from east shore points and the Kliderhouse was on her way to Escanaba for iron ore. All the vessels were taken off the breakwater, but in a badly damaged condition.

"It fairly Wearies me to Think of the multitude of things advertised to cure disease," you say. No wonder. But in the mountains of chaff there are grains of golden wheat. We may find it difficult to induce you to test the merits of Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy, but when you have done so, our work is ended. Afterwards you and this medicine will be fast friends. Favorite Remedy would have died out long ago except for its real usefulness. But it is good and does good.

In a recent novel we discover the gentlemanly villain at one moment "lazily puffing a German pipe, and staring up at the ceiling;" on the next page we suddenly find him "throwing away the end of his cigar;" and a few lines farther on he is "lazily puffing at his cigarette, and smiling with a superior air." Perhaps it will not be necessary to inform our readers that the novel was written by a woman.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE enters upon the new subscription year with undiminished faith in the restoration to power of the party which has shown the greatest capacity for safe, patriotic, intelligent government. It thanks its agents and friends for their hearty support during the last year.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE remains the principal national exponent of the arguments, doctrines and aims of the Republican party. It is a strong, aggressive newspaper, uncompromisingly Republican, and faithfully devoted to the home interests of all America. The paper labors earnestly for a protective tariff, to develop the resources of the different States and secure good wages, good food, good clothing and comfortable homes for the people, and itself pays the highest prices to its own men of any office in New York city; for equal rights and an honest vote, North and South; for every practical measure in the interests of morality and temperance; and for upright, dignified, patriotic government.

Republicans Need The Tribune.

Every intelligent farmer; every old soldier; every worker and active man of whatever occupation; every good wife with a family; and every citizen who wants to identify himself with the party of progress, brilliant achievement and morality, needs THE TRIBUNE.

THE TRIBUNE will be good reading after Congress meets, when Evarts, Sherman, Logan, and other brilliant leaders begin to ask the Administration questions hard to answer.

As an agricultural paper THE TRIBUNE is unexcelled.

A Series of War Stories.

The grander features of the War for the Union have all been recorded. The minor incidents, the thrilling and romantic episodes, are a great volume, of which only a few chapters have ever been written.

THE NEW-YORK TRIBUNE offers A PRIZE OF $250 in cash for the best story of the late War, written by a private soldier or sailor of the Union forces, or by an officer under the rank of Colonel or Navy Captain, about 5,000 words in length, relating a thrilling incident, raid, fight, escape, adventure, or experience, of which he himself was a part or an eye witness. A PRIZE OF $100 will be given for the second best story. Twenty-five or more of these stories will be published during 1886. Every one accepted will be paid for whether it wins a prize or not. The best two will receive the prizes. Publication begins January 6th. The competition ends July 1st, 1886. All manuscripts carefully read.

Premiums.

Wood's Household Practice of Medicine, two handsome volumes, profusely illustrated; Webster's and Worcester's Unabridged Dictionaries; Ridpath's Illustrated History of the United States; Young's Concordance of the Bible; and the Waterbury Watch. Send for sample copy, which describes the premiums.

TERMS.

The Daily, 75 cents a month: $8.50 a year. The Sunday Tribune, alone, $1.50 a year. The Semi-Weekly, $2.50 a year, or $2.00 in clubs. The Weekly, $1.25 a year, or $1.00 in clubs. Give your subscription to THE TRIBUNE'S local Club Agent, if there is one.

I CURE FITS!

When I say cure I do not mean merely to stop them for a time and then have them return again. I mean a radical cure. I have made the disease of FITS, EPILEPSY or FALLING SICKNESS a life-long study. I warrant my remedy to cure the worst cases. Because others have failed is no reason for not now receiving a cure. Send at once for a treatise and a Free Bottle of my infallible remedy. Give Express and Post Office. It costs you nothing for a trial, and I will cure you. DR. H. G. ROOT, 183 Pearl St., N.Y.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL NEWS.

—Six persons united with the Aaronsburg Lutheran church on Sunday, the 15th.

—The Williamsport subscription fund for a Y. M. C. A. building amounts to $23,700.

—State Commander Austin Curtin visited the G. A. R. Post at Renovo on Tuesday, Nov. 17.

—Many of the ladies about town are having their hair cut quite short. It makes them look real cute and pretty.

—A new bay window, which is a very desirable addition, has recently been put in front of W. W. Bayard's drug store.

—Among the fourth-class postmasters appointed on Thursday we notice the name of Mr. John Martin, of Milesburg.

—The people in some of the small towns in the county are being entertained by concerts given by the Clymer family.

—The frost Friday morning, while not peculiarly heavy, was of a very slippery sort, and pedestrians were compelled to be cautious.

—The stable owned by Ex-Treasurer D. C. Keller, of Centre Hall, burned some time ago, has been replaced by a new building.

—Indian Summer, this year, comes in installments—a day that seems much like the Red man's warm weather season occurring about once a week.

--We hear that Mr. Ed. Bullock, of Milesburg, accidentally shot himself through the hand on Wednesday last. Dr. Hayes, of this place, attended him.

—Gregg Post, G. A. R., under whose auspices the Milliken operatic entertainment was given, cleared expenses and expect to have a small balance in their favor.

—What is it that is always moving, is always visible to someone and people never tire of looking at it? This is an original Bellefonte riddle, which you cannot guess.

—We hear of the death of the five-year-old daughter of Mr. Marshall, who lives up Buffalo Run. She is the granddaughter of Joseph Marshall. The funeral took place Saturday.

—Jonathan Cullen, a respected citizen of Philipsburg, and for fifteen years section foreman of the Pennsylvania railroad at that place, died suddenly on Tuesday night, Nov. 17, aged about 60 years.

—The grocery store of L. M. & S. L. Carpenter, Philipsburg, was destroyed by fire with all its contents, about 1 o'clock on Tuesday morning, Nov. 17. Cause unknown. Loss $2,200, fully covered by insurance.

—At the close of the services Sunday the 15th, in the Mill Hall Presbyterian church, a unanimous call was extended to Rev. W. Pomeroy, of Pleasant View, Juniata county, to accept the pastorate of that church. No answer has yet been received from the reverend gentleman.

—General William Irwin, of Lewistown, a hero of the Mexican war and an officer of General Hancock's staff during the civil war, and afterwards State Treasurer of Pennsylvania, has become hopelessly insane, and is now in the Anchorage Asylum at Louisville, Kentucky.

—It appears that the Rink, although it has passed into the ownership of a new party, will continue to be a place for festivities. For instance, the Adelphic club ball, last Wednesday evening, was a very pleasant gathering and the ball to be given by four young men on Thurday evening, December 24, also promises to be enjoyable.

—The Excelsior Literary Society, of Millheim, holds public exercises occasionally, and next Tuesday evening will be devoted to that purpose. There will be several literary efforts and a debate on the subject: "Resolved, That the parent exerts a greater influence than the teacher in training the mind of the child."

—All the jurors except those on the trial of George Flack vs. James L. Sommerville, before Judge Krebs, were discharged on Wednesday afternoon, the 18th, in time for departure on the 5:20 train. The jury gave the plaintiff judgment for $14.50. In the case of J. Tome, D. G. Bush and Ed. Blanchard, for the use of J. Tome and D. G. Bush vs. Joseph W. Myers, verdict was given the defendant.

—We learn that Master George Meek son of P. G. Meek, Esq., was successful in securing a botanical prize offered by Rev. Dr. A. R. Horne, editor of the Educational Journal. We have not learned what the prize was, but the Journal has a wide circulation and there was much competition and that the prize should come to George is certainly exceedingly complimentary to his ability and studiousness.

—We were not present at the Milliken operatic entertainment on Wednesday evening, but from those who were there we learn that the performance was a severe disappointment. There were a few redeeming features, but the performance as a whole was inexcusably bad. We regret that this is so as Gregg Post was confident that the troupe was all it was represented to be, and they share in the disappointment of the audience. Hereafter they will exert extra precaution to provide only the best talent available.

A Subscriber Criticises the Borough Council.

Personally we know nothing about the statement given in the following letter. It was written, however, by one of the prominent citizens of the town, and if any reply is deemed necessary by members of council, or other persons, the columns of the Daily News, will be at their service:

"MAGNANIMOUS" BOROUGH COUNCILMEN.

The heartless transaction of public business by the borough fathers is well illustrated by the case of Mrs. James Gregg. Her husband is abed sick with a fever and unable to earn a penny to support his wife and five little children. Mrs. Gregg leaves her children at home (for they have no clothing and no books to attend school) and goes out to wash and work to earn a mere pittance with which to keep hunger away from her door. The other day new calamity fell on her comfortless and ragged home. Tax Collector Keichline made a levy on her few household goods (lately contributed by kind friends after the recent fire) for back taxes.

She sat down, utterly dejected, and wept bitterly over her hard lot, then taking new courage, she went forth again to work and scrub, and after getting her day's wages carried a paltry dollar to the tax collector for part of the cruel taxes. When asked how he could collect the little money of that poor woman, for taxes, when her husband and children were hungry for bread, the tax collector said he was only doing his duty as laid down by the borough councilmen. Is it possible that our borough fathers refuse to exonerate the tax collector from the collection of taxes from the needy, starving poor, and require the dingy, scanty homes of starving families to be levied upon for a few dollars of taxes? Let us suggest that councilmen Brown, Crider, Munson, naturally kind hearted, and generous, make a list of the needy but worthy poor of the borough, then peep into their homes, and say, if they can after such a visit, whether they and their associates will decline to exonerate the tax-collector from collecting taxes from poverty and starvation.

Explanation.

The Committee of Entertainment for Gregg Post desire to say that in the disappointment occasioned by the Milliken Operatic Comedy Company which appeared in Humes' Hall, the 18th inst., that this is not the Company first engaged by Gregg Post Committee to give a concert with selections from certain plays translated from the French, but that this Company was placed here by Col Milliken to take the place of the one which meanwhile has been disbanded, thus to fill a date which he had promised us. Now, bear in mind that this Committee had never advertised to produce a play in Humes' Hall, in its entirety, but had only led the community to believe that those who patronized the entertainment coming on the 18th would get selections of a play or plays. The new Milliken Comedy Company has only rehearsed in the play entitled "3 wives to 1 husband" and made their appearance in the pieces since its organization, yet, to do them justice, for a small stage the first act of that Comedy went very smoothly, and the disappointment was chiefly that it could not be continued to the end of the last act. The balance of the entertainment substituted for the two acts which were not produced, by consent and approval of this Committee, were good specialities and the closing farce was funny enough.

We only have to say that had we known that Mr. Milliken had a new Company entire, and that our patrons expected a play to be fully produced in Humes' Hall, we should never have been responsible for the Company in question coming here or for any other dramatic or comedy or operatic company ever being brought to Bellefonte with no Opera House. Let justice be done to people who, to say the least, have done us no harm and sought to oblige rather than disappoint.

R. C. IRVIN,
for Committee of 95.

Committees to Bury Deceased Indigent Soldiers.

The county Commissioners have appointed the following persons in the different townships, to take charge of the duty of burying deceased indigent soldiers and sailors. It will be noticed that many of the appointments have not yet been made, and the commissioners should complete the list as rapidly as possible.

Howard Borough, E. M. Barry, Balser Weber, David P. McKinney; Milesburg Borough, Joseph Murray, D. R. Boleau, R. L. Shirk; Philipsburg Borough, John Gowland, A. J. Graham, Jackson Gorton; Boggs township, C. P. Stoneroad, Frank A. Wallace, David H. Swires; Howard township, Jno. A. Woodward, Thomas Saunders, J. Newlin Hall; Rush township, John Long, Hugh McCann, John A. Mull; Spring township, Capt. A. B. Snyder, Perry Gentzel, M. F. Riddle.

The two soldiers thus buried since the law went into effect are: First, George W. Armstrong, Corporal Co. G., 51st regt., P. V., who was discharged on the 17th of September, 1865, for wounds received at Antietam. He died on the 28th of July, 1885, and was buried in Bellefonte cemetery. Second, Michael D. McLaughlin, corporal of company E., 49th regt., P. V. His discharge was dated September 9, 1864. He died on the 19th of September, 1885. Was buried in the Bellefonte cemetery.

Local Institute.

The teachers of Howard borough and township, and friends of education will hold a Local Institute at Howard, Dec. 4th and 5th. The following is a programme of exercises.

Class drill in Physiology, by W. R. Leathers.

Class drill in Reading, by J. L. Gardner.

Class exercise in Elementary Arithmetic, by Reuben Pletcher.

C. K. Hicklen will give one method of teaching Geography.

Class drill in analysis in Grammar, by J. Womeldorf.

W. R. Leathers will give a history of the first Institutes in Centre Co.

How to interest our pupils in school, by J. L. Gardner.

The subject, "Reading Circles," will be discussed by Prof. J. A. Robb, Sup't. of the Lock Haven schools.

Our Schools—Why? by J. Womeldorf.

Methods of teaching Language will be discussed.

Local Institute, by Prof. J. A. Robb.

County Sup't. D. M. Wolf, I. L. McCloskey, county Sup't. of Clinton county, Mr. Geo. Bible, and Miss Mary Waddle, recitationist from Lock Haven, will be in attendance.

John Lee is painting the cornice on the new Lutheran church.

The boys got the two-bys for serenading West Smith. Much obliged, West.

There is talk of another hotel to be built soon. CHUCK.

--Two dogs on Spring street, Wednesday afternoon, aroused the entire neighborhood. One small cur had entered the premises which constitutes the home of another dog, and when the latter animal "made for" him he attempted to retreat hastily. But in his haste his large head was caught in the gate. No amount of struggling on the part of the cur would free him from imprisonment. Doubtless believing that his last day had come and that he was about to be devoured by the large dog behind, the cur gave forth the most agonizing howls ever heard from such an animal. This is what aroused the people. The large dog was too surprised to pursue the subject farther and at length a kind Samaritan released the frightened cur.

Many Thanks.

The committee of arrangements connected with the series of entertainments now being given under the auspices of Gregg Post desire us to express their hearty thanks to people living along the line of the Bellefonte and Lemont railroad for the patronage they have given thus far. Persons from Centre Hall, Boalsburg, Lemont, State College, Pleasant Gap, and other towns have been observed quite numerously among the audiences. To them is largely due the financial success that has attended the entertainments. The committee will render it absolutely certain that none will be disappointed in the character of future entertainments.

—A dispatch from New York under date of 18th inst., says that on Tuesday Sanford Q. Mingle, of Williamsport, had F. Foster Smith and James B. Benton lodged in Ludlow street jail on a charge of conspiring to defraud him out of 6,000 acres of land in Clinton and Centre counties, Pa. They agreed to pay him $6,000 for the land. Instead of doing so, they gave him three $1,000 bonds of the United States Land and Investment Company of New Jersey, which he says are worthless.—L. H. Express.

—Sheriff Garrett, of Mifflin county, passed through Altoona Tuesday, the 17th inst., en route to the western penitentiary, having in his charge Curtin McClain, the murderer of Smearman, and who was sentenced to be hanged, but which sentence was commuted by the board of pardons to imprisonment for life. The prisoner was handcuffed and did not get out in Altoona. Those who had an opportunity to look at him say he was apparently in the best of health.

—The Literary Society of the Young Men's Christian Association held an interesting meeting on Thursday evening. Among the items of business transacted was one arranging for a series of ten-cent entertainments, the proceeds of which will be devoted to the furnishing fund of the Y. M. C. A. building. These entertainments will surely be meritorious and within the reach of all. The public will await the announcement of the date.

—On Friday a horse was fastened to the post in front of Wilson, McFarlane & Co.'s store from 10 o'clock in the morning until late at night. The horse did not get any feed during that time, although compassionate merchants in that vicinity gave the animal water. The owner of the animal is accustomed to visit town and keep the horse standing in this way for long periods at a time. Of course, the noble animal suffers greatly and it is an instance of cruelty to animals which should be prevented. If there is any one especially interested in this work about town see that the evil is prevented in future.

Death of Mr. Michael Frank.

On Saturday morning, the 14th, Mr. Michael Frank died at the home of his son-in-law, Wm. H. Smith, in Penn township. Deceased was a son of Philip and Conrad Frank and was born July 19, 1806, making his age at the time of death 79 years, 3 months and 25 days. He was married on the 26th day of November, 1835, to Anna Homan, daughter of Peter Homan, of Haines township. He was the father of nine children of whom seven still survive.

—The biography of Grandmother Gotwalt as prepared and read by Mrs. Deininger at the memorial service at the missionary convention at Aaronsburg has been published in tract form by the Lutheran publication house in Philadelphia and is offered to the Lutheran churches and missionary societies at 5 cents per copy. Mrs. S. H. Fair, of Salona, Pa., will fill all orders promptly. The money will be devoted to missionary purposes.

—Mr. John Rishel is making improvements to his property in Spring township, on the road leading to Lemont. The fence along the pike has been elevated to a level with the roadway, which improves not only his property, but also the pike.

ADMINISTRATOR'S NOTICE.—Letters of administration having been granted to the undersigned upon the estate of Samuel Olewine, late of Bellefonte, deceased, all persons indebted to said estate are hereby notified to make immediate payment, and those having claims against the same to present them, duly authenticated, for settlement. AN INTERESTING LETTER

From Mr. Harry Olmstead, Proofreader of "The Times."

The following letter is encouraging and worthy careful perusal, coming, as it does, from so reliable a source, unsolicited. It contains facts of great value:

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 12, 1884.

DR. DAVID KENNEDY, Rondout, N. Y.:

DEAR SIR:—For ten years I have been a sufferer from disease of the kidneys, at times so much so as to make life a burden. During this time several of the best physicians in Indiana have treated me with little or no success, until I had almost despaired of relief. I then tried several advertised remedies, but nothing produced the desired result until a friend who had been relieved induced me to give DR. DAVID KENNEDY'S FAVORITE REMEDY a trial. I did so. After taking one bottle I began to experience relief. I took another and was charmed with the result. In all, I have taken four bottles, and can truly say I feel like a new man. I am confident I am entirely cured, as it has been several months since I took the last medicine and there is no indication of a return of the disease. I have recommended your remedy to several suffering friends who have also been relieved. I write this to return my sincere thanks to you for the cure which has been effected in my case, and also desire to say that I think suffering humanity owes you a debt of gratitude for your wonderful scientific discovery. I shall do all that in me lies to let all suffering know where they may find relief and thereby in some measure remunerate you for the good you have done me.

Wishing you long life and prosperity, and thanking you for prolonging my life, I am,

HARRY W. OLMSTEAD.

DR. KENNEDY, of RONDOUT, N. Y., assures the public by a reputation which he cannot afford to imperil that the "Favorite Remedy" does invigorate the blood, cures Liver, Kidney and Bladder complaints, as well as those diseases and weaknesses peculiar to females. Your druggist has it; if not, send One Dollar to Dr. David Kennedy, Rondout, N. Y. 17 36 1y

Profit for Everybody.

Parker's Tonic kept in a home is a sentinel to keep sickness out. Used discreetly it keeps the blood pure, and the stomach, liver and kidneys in working order. Coughs and colds vanish before it. It builds up the health.

"I sell large quantities of Parker's Tonic in my drug store. Among my customers, a doctor has been prescribing it for the past two years. He was nearly dead himself, and tried every remedy known to his profession, without any relief. After he had used four bottles of Parker's Tonic he began to grow in flesh, and the improvement in his health was absolutely wonderful. He now recommends it to everyone."—J. E. Vitalized Phosphites.

HEALTH AND VIGOR FOR THE BRAIN AND NERVOUS SYSTEM

CROSBY'S VITALIZED PHOS-PHITES

Composed of the Nerve giving Principles of the Ox-Brain and the Embryo of the Wheat and Oat.

This is a standard preparation with all physicians who treat mental or nervous disorders. The formula is on every label. Its chemical composition is superintended by a professor of Chemistry.

As it is identical in its composition with brain matter, it is rapidly absorbed, and quickly relieves the depression from intellectual efforts, fatigue, loss of memory, or mental irritability.

Sleeplessness, irritation, nervous exhaustion, inability to work or study is but a brain-hunger—in urgent cases, brain starvation. This brain nutriment quickly feeds the hungry nerves and restores brain power. It is a cure for nervous disorders and debility in old or young.

BRAIN WORKERS NEED BRAIN FOOD.

Crosby's Vitalized Phos-phites should be taken as a Special Brain Food.

To build up worn out nerves, to banish sleeplessness, neuralgia and sick headache. I have not had a severe headache since I began its use, it was my great trouble before.—Dr. Gerpas.

To promote good digestion.—Dr. Wilmore.

To "stamp out" consumption.—Dr. Churchill.

To "completely cure night sweats."—John B. Quigley.

To maintain the capabilities of the nerves to perform all functions even at the highest tension.—Ed. Treasure Trove.

To restore the energy lost by nervousness, debility, over exertion or enervated vital powers.—Dr. W. S. Wells.

To repair the nerves that have been enfeebled by worry, depression, anxiety or deep grief.—Miss Mary Rankin.

To strengthen the intellect so that study and developmental application may be a pleasure and not a trial.—B. M. Couch.

To develop good teeth, glossy hair, clear skin, handsome nails in the young, so that they may be an inheritance in later years.—Ed. School Journal.

To enlarge the capabilities for enjoyment.—National Journal of Education.

To "make life a pleasure" "not a daily suffering." "I really urge you to put it to the test."—Miss Emily Faithfel.

To amplify bodily and mental power to the present generation and "prove the survival of the fittest" to the next.—Bismarck.

To restore lost powers and abilities.—Dr. Bull.

There is no other Vital Phos-phite, none that is extracted from living animal and vegetable tissues.

LOTS GIVEN AWAY!

Palma Sola, Florida.

The paradise of invalids! The home of tropical fruits! Climate unsurpassed! No frost! No extremes of heat or cold! No malaria! Ground high and dry! Plenty of pine! and the finest hunting and fishing in America.

PALMA SOLA has the name of being the largest, prettiest and youngest town in Florida. Is beautifully located on the Gulf coast, two miles above the mouth of the Manatee River. Already the iron horse is wending its way to Palma Sola, and soon the tourist will arrive at its first class hotel, where he can get a meal to suit his epicurean tastes.

Palma Sola possesses the largest store in Southern Florida, with sawmill, furniture factory, packing houses, warehouses, churches, school house, post-office, stores, beautiful residences, and a large wharf at which ocean steamers arrive daily from Tampa.

WARREN LELAND, Jr., of "Long Branch" fame, has secured a location at Palma Sola for the erection of a winter resort. The prediction is a safe one, based as it is upon the natural advantages and attractions of the place, that he will make this the "LONG BRANCH" of FLORIDA, and other large hotels will be built.

With the completion of the railroad, this will be the terminus, and the direct route to Havana, Cuba. Lots will double and quadruple their present prices NOW IS THE TIME TO BUY.

LOTS 100x300 ft $45 to $ 90 per lot. We want PALMA SOLA to keep booming, and as an inducement to the public, and to thoroughly advertise this beautiful place, WE WILL GIVE AWAY a LIMITED number ONLY of our lots, giving lots ALTERNATELY as they come (corners excepted) charging applicants the expense of deeds, transfer, etc., which will not exceed $2.00. Applicants can send postal money order with application to insure promptness, otherwise deeds will be sent C. O. D. Applicants must not be surprised at the return of their money, as being LIMITED the first come will be first served. TITLE PERFECT. FULL WARRANTY DEED. Send for pamphlet. Address

Terms, $1.00 per annum in Advance

Local Department.

—The banks, schools and many of the stores are closed to-day.

—A polite way of dunning a delinquent is to send him a bouquet of forget-me-nots.

—Mr. Isaac Smith, of Farmers Mills, is serving his country in the capacity of juror in court this week.

—Mr. John Wilson, of Loveville, has recently erected a fruit house in which he has stored 600 bushels of winter apples.

—Miss Beckie Cannon, of Port Matilda, died on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock, of consumption. She was about 25 years of age.

—Mr. W. H. Wike, of Tow Hill Ore Mines, slaughtered two hogs the other day, which together tipped the scales at 700 pounds.

—A new post office has been established at Oak Hall. It will be named Oak Hall Station. Mr. J. G. Irvin has been appointed postmaster.

—Rev. Geo. B. Ague returned on Saturday from Philadelphia to his home in Milesburg. He had been in Philadelphia consulting his doctors.

—The youngest son of George W. Woomer, agent at Olivia, died on Monday at the age of 17 months. He was buried at Olivia cemetery on Tuesday.

—Lock Haven has been trying to induce Moody to visit that city, but he has been compelled to refuse them, because his time is all engaged until next Summer.

—We understand that the commissioners, in the goodness of their really kind hearts, have consented to allow the coming teacher's institute to meet in the Court House.

—The W. C. T. U. will not meet this (Thursday) afternoon, it being Thanksgiving. Future meetings of the Union will be held at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoons instead of 4 o'clock.

—The interesting article entitled "Roughing It," which appears to-day, was written by Miss Mollie Campbell, of Harper, Harper county, Kansas. She is a sister of ex-Commissioner H. C. Campbell.

—Mr. Foster Williams, the clerk in Joseph Brothers store, is as happy as a king. You wont wonder at his happiness when we tell you that a handsome baby daughter has come to rule his home.

—The usual union religious meeting of Thanksgiving day will be held morning at 10½ o'clock in the Presbyterian church. Rev. J. F. DeLong will deliver the sermon, and it will be an excellent and instructive discourse.

—Judge A. O. Furst is presiding in Court this week. He is ably supported by Judges Munson and Smith. The three of them are willing to challenge any court in Pennsylvania for their equals in good looks and intellectually developed craniums.

—An unknown man was killed on the railroad in Altoona on Saturday evening. He is between 20 and 25 years of age, five feet nine inches high, light complexion, dark curly hair, closely cut. There was nothing about him by which he could be identified.

—Nelson Lucas, the well-known citizen of Coleville who recently went to Washington to give the Government the benefit of his talents, has a petified boot, which the Washington Critic describes at length and which description is copied in the Harrisburg Patriot.

—The protracted revival services in the Methodist church at Pleasant Gap have been very successful. During two weeks fifty persons sought salvation and thirty made hopeful professions of conversion. The good work is continuing and sinners are being saved.

—Mrs. Burnside, widow of the late Thomas Burnside, and her son, Edgar, expect to begin housekeeping soon in part of the pleasant double house owned by Mr. Curtin on the north side of East Curtin street. The house was recently occupied by Mrs. Butts and family.

—Rev. Dr. Rulison, the assistant bishop of this diocese of the Episcopal church will visit St. John's parish in this place, on Thursday, December 3, for the purpose of ordaining Rev. Jno. R. R. Robinson to the priesthood and to perform such other episcopal offices as shall be required of him.

—Mr. G. W. Sheets, who now lives at Franklinville, this State, and formerly resided in this county, was in town this morning. He has been traveling for the woolen mills owned by Mr. Zach Keatley in Franklinville, for two years past, and in the course of his travels, frequently visits Bellefonte.

—Mr. Will Auchenbach, of this place, is a member of the Williamsport Wheel Club. The club recently opened a new hall to be occupied by them in the new Hays building in that city, which is furnished magnificently. The floor is covered with tapestry Brussels and a large Turkish rug. There are about thirty members.

He Says that the "Prominent" Citizen Doesn't Know Much.

In reply to the letter in the Daily News of the 20th entitled "Magnanimous Borough Councilmen," I would say that he cannot be prominent for the reason that he lacks a knowledge of the affairs of the town. He does not know the difference that exists between a borough council and a school board, or a poor district and the county commissioners. The town council has nothing to do with me. I am overseer of the poor of the borough and am collecting taxes for the county commissioners. The auditors of the poor district, school board and the county commissioners have exonerated James Gregg of the taxes that were assessed against him for the year 1883-1884. James Gregg has not paid me one cent of taxes for the three past years. While I collected taxes for the town council they were liberal in giving me exonerations of the taxes assessed against the poor people of this town. The auditors of the poor district, school board and county commissioners have always been liberal in exonersting the poor people of this town of the taxes assessed against them. I do not remember that James Gregg ever paid me a cent of taxes. If he did it was three years ago. I made no levy on James Gregg's property, for I do not know where he lives. The writer says that after the recent fire his kind friends contributed to him for his family. But it happens that it was not his friends who gave him help at that time. It was the overseer of the poor who gave his wife a ten-dollar poor order to get her children clothing. I have collected over $200,000 of taxes in this borough, consisting of school, poor, county, borough, street, interest and water taxes. I have never yet had a sale and have never charged one cent of cost in audition to the taxes. I may have sent duns to James Gregg for taxes. It may have been a letter or a postal card, or an advertisement. have never been very particular in regard to the kind of duns I send, as it would be impossible for the Devil himself to collect all the taxes.

I have dunned the writer of the communication entitled "Magnanimous Borough Councilmen" for his taxes, but he claims that he is too poor to pay. If he will come to my office like a man, I will try and do him the favor of asking the school board, poor auditors and county commissionors to exonerate him of his taxes. If he wants to be exonerated of borough taxes he must consult his friend, Wm. Jones, who collects borough taxes.

J. M. KEICHLINE,
Tax Collector.

The Tax Question Again.

Referring to Collector Keichline's reply, I am glad to learn from him that that the public authorities, whose servant he is, do not refuse to exonerate the poor from the payment of taxes whenever the collectors request it. He assumes the sole responsibility of offering at public sale the paltry articles of furniture of this unfortunate family for a few dollars of taxes! But Mr. K. flatly denies the charge. He says he does not know James F. Gregg, never received a cent of taxes from him, never levied on his little household goods, does not know where he lives, &c. Against this reckless denial, I beg to insert, with regret, the following hand-bill over his own name, which speaks for itself:

COLLECTOR'S SALE.

By virtue of sundry warrants to me directed, will be exposed to Public Sale at the home of James P. Gregg in the Borough of Bellefonte on the 23d day of November, A. D. 1885, the following property:

1 Cook stove, 1 Room stove, 2 Beds and Bedding 1 Table, 1 Cupboard, all his personal property

Levied on and to be sold as the property of James P. Gregg for taxes. Sale to be, in at 9 o'clock of said day.

J. M. KEICHLINE,
Collector.

Comment is unnecessary.

Let us hope the sale will not occur to-day—that the contributions made by friends after the recent fire will not be seized for taxes, and that the collector will magnanimously request the authorities to exonerate these taxes. For the present, relief has come to Mrs. Gregg, and her dark home has been lighted by the generosity of her friends. For the future, an order of relief has been handed Collector K., who, in his double capacity of tax collector and guardian of the poor, can, if he so desires, either distress or bless the homes of the poor.

I disclaim to do intentional wrong to anybody in this matter. I desire simply to emphasize the fact that the approaching Winter will entail much actual suffering to many people in our midst, and that each and all of us may do something to help and cheer our less fortunate neighbors.

Tell the Truth—Right Wrongs no Man.

In reply to J. L. Spangler's communication in the DAILY NEWS of the 20th and 23d, I will admit that he does understand the nature and character of a sheriff's sale and that he does understand the legal and moral responsibility attached thereto, and that he does know how many days a sheriff must advertise before he can sell, and that he does know the legal fee bill of the sheriff's costs, I will admit that he knows all about Sheriff's sales, for the reason that his father was sheriff of the county some years ago. But he does plead the baby act in reference to a collector's sale. On the 16th or 17th of this month I mailed through the post-office forty letters with advertisements in them. No person knows who they were but themselves. It happens that James Gregg was one of them, and only two person paid. The day of the sales has gone by, nobody is sold out and nobody hurt, and I am out of pocket one dollar. Mr. James Gregg's wife carried this letter to J. L. Spangler. Then Jack thought it was a good time for him to go for me. During the last three months he has been advising the people of this town not to pay taxes or rent to me. I receive a notice from him almost daily, such as—"Now; John, if you sell out that man or woman you will get yourself in trouble." Now Jack thinks he has got me in trouble. What are the requisites of a collector's sale? 1st, He must have a warrant, 2d, He must go to the house and make a levy, 3d, He must post up three bills, one in the house and the other two at the most public places in town, 4th, He must give ten days notice. Jack pretends to be a lawyer of fame and ability, and yet he will admit that he does not know the requisites of a collector's sale, or else he is pleading the baby act.

Now, in reply to his communication of the 20th, I said then and I say now that I have never been in the house of James Gregg in my life. I have never levied on any of his furniture in my life and I have not received one cent of taxes from him in the last three years. Now, Jack, you might as well come down the ladder and acknowledge that you have been publishing the untruth. If you can find any other evidence contrary to the statement that I have made in reference to the sale of James Gregg's property I will make you a present of $100. Tell the truth, Jack, right wrongs no man. You have refused to pay your own taxes and are advising other people to do the same thing, and yet you claim to be a prominent citizen of this town I am sorry for James Gregg that he is poor. He was rich and now is poor. But did you ever hear of any person being sold out by the tax collector, or starved out in this town? No there is no other town in the State where the rich are as liberal in helping to take care of the poor as in Bellefonte.

Who advertised James Gregg's property for sale? J. L. Spangler. Where? In the DAILY NEWS. And it is the only advertisement you can find in town. I believe now that J. L. Spangler is tax collector, and I am not. I will now suggest that we elect Jack tax collector next Spring. When will we meet again?

J. M. KEICHLINE, Tax Collector.

He Must Say It.

One of the most earnest and consecrated Christian workers in this community writes:

Some word of satisfaction ought to be expressed in reference to our meeting held last Sunday afternoon in the "Centennial School house;" for situation one of the pleasantest as well as the most capacious school-houses in the upper Half Moon valley.

I can hardly help expressing it so no one will blame me for saying that the congregation which greeted me there was very highly complimentary to the Christian work of Bible study in the Sunday school. All the seats and extra chairs were occupied as well as some standing room with reverent worshipers. Lutherans, Methodists, United Brethren, Friends, and Presbyterians all, according to the Lord's prayer for His people, "that they all may be one," "endeavoring to keep the unity of the Spirit in love which is the bond of perfectness.

The Psalmist's acclaim was sweetly realized as many of those present would gladly testify, "How good and how pleasant it is for brethren to dwell together in unity." For permanent spiritual results we must depend upon the stated means of grace regularly maintained by the church and yet all will agree that there should be more frequent opportunities for the various religious denominations to unite in Divine worship as well as in Christian union work. In many localities the church makes no provision for these manifest expressions of the oneness of God's people. The time, however, is sure to come when Christians will look back to these times and view with amazement the present divisions among the adherents of Christianity.

A Sunday School Institute, under the auspices of The Centre County S. S. Association, is expected to be held in the upper Half Moon Valley some time before Christmas for one day only.

The use of the Lutheran church, the M. E. church and the Friends' Meeting House is freely offered for this purpose.

The singers are already at work in preparation. Under these favoring circumstances a very enjoyable occasion may be anticipated, and will doubtless be profitably realized by all in attendance.

—The announcement of the approaching marriage of Miss Laura E., daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Burrows, of Williamsport, to Justin L. Hill, will be read with interest by many in Bellefonte by whom the young lady is well known The happy event will occur in the First Presbyterian church, Williamsport, at 10 o'clock on Thursday morning, December 3. Miss Burrows has frequently visited at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crider in this place, and is a charming and popular young lady.

—There probably will not be much sleighing in the centre of town this Winter. The steam heat melts the snow too rapidly to permit it.

In the Court.

Regular November term of court commenced Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Hon. A. O. Furst, Pres. Judge, presiding with Hon. J. R. Smith and Hon. Chester Munson, associate Judges, on the bench. After hearing a number of motions, court adjourned to meet at 2 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

A list of grand jurors were called. Twenty-two were present out of twenty-four summoned. G. M. Boal, Esq., of Centre Hall Borough, was made foreman.

The Constablnary of the county were then called on to make their quarterly returns, which they did. L. George and The Keystone Bottling Company, also The Bartholomew Brewing Co. were returned for violation of the Liquor Law, by the Constable of Bellefonte, and two other returns were made of F. & B. by the constables of College and Boggs townships, respectively.

The list of Traverse Jurors was then called over and forty answered to their names out of forty-eight summoned.

The Grand Jury returned the following bills of indictment: Commonwealth vs. Frank L. Foote, larceny. True Bill. Verdict: Defendant guilty, with recommendation to the court for mercy.

In the Common Pleas the case of Geo Myer vs. Motz & Snook was tried and a verdict rendered in favor of plaintiff for $41.63.

In the case of Geo. W. Hollobaugh vs. H. G. Elder, judgment was entered without trial in favor of plaintiff for $30 and costs.

In the case of Samuel Stien's, administrators, vs. Mitchell Leathers, judgment was entered in favor of plaintiff for $18.-52 and costs.

TUESDAY MORNING.

The case of Commonwealth vs. John Delaney for violation of the Liquor Law was tried before a traverse jury.

The Grand Jury returned the following bills of indictment.

Commonwealth vs. Barnabas Shope "assault and battery." Ignoramus and directed the prosecutor, G. H. Leymen, to pay costs.

Same vs. Harry Thompson, F. and B. Prosecutrix, Sarah Garret, true bill.

Same vs. William Beck, F. and B. Prosecutrix, Mary L. Houck, true bill.

Same vs. Alfred Barlow, assault and battery. True bill.

Same vs G. H. Leyman, assault and battery. True bill.

Same vs. Willliam Abrams, F. and B. Prosecutrix, Sarah Benson. True bill.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON.

The jury in the case of Commonwealth vs. John J. Delany returned a verdict of not guilty, but defendant to pay costs.

In Commonwealth vs. George H. Leyman, for assault and battery, the jury returned a verdict of guilty. Sentenced to pay $100 fine and costs, &c.

Same vs. Noah Confer, grand jury returned a true bill. Defendant plead guilty and was sentenced to jail for nine months.

Same vs. Edwin B. Shadman, carrying concealed weapons. Not a true bill.

Same vs. Charles P. Roney, assault and battery. True bill.

Same vs. O. Y. Walker, violation of liquor law. Pleads guilty. Sentence $200 fine and costs.

Same vs. Rush Rhoads, F. and B. True bill.

Same vs. William Butler, furnishing liquor to Brinv Morrison. True bill. Sentence $10 fine, imprisonment in county jail 60 days and costs.

Same vs. John S. Huston, F. and B Defendant pleads guilty.

Same vs. Harry Thompson, same offense. True bill. Defendant not arrested.

Commonwealth vs. William Beck, same offense. True bill. Case settled.

Same vs Jesse D. Rearick, cruelty to animals. Not a true bill and prosecutor to pay costs.

Same vs. Greenwood Shope, assault and battery. Not a true bill and prosecutor, George H. Leyman, to pay costs

Same vs. James Dolan, larceny. Not a true bill.

Same vs. James Hull. True bill.

—The New Free Christian Church at Milroy, over which Rev. John W. White will minister, was dedicated on Sunday, the 15th. Rev. John Miller, of Princeton, N. J., preached the dedicatory sermon. The edifice cost $3200 and is free from debt. It is a neat frame building in the form of a cross, with steep roof and four large gables on the ends and wings, and two smaller ones over the pulpit recess and vestibule. There is a large round window in each of the four large gables. The central room is 32 by 54 feet, including the pulpit recess, and the side rooms are each 14 by 28 feet. The side rooms are cut off from the central rooms by glass partitions and all can be converted into one room, capable of seating 600 persons comfortably. The windows are of stained glass and very pretty. Rev. White very generously offered to give a portion of his salary to pay the debt on the church, but the offer was not accepted by the congregation. He intimates, however, that he will use it in another way for benefit of the church. Rev. White's sincerity and unselfishness are unquestioned, and in his zeal he does not hesitate to make any sacrifice. It is this zeal, recognized as pure and honest, that has won for him his many friends.

—Mr. Cooper Dare was noticed in Bellefonte Tuesday morning.

EXPLOSION AT PHILIPSBURG.

A Woman Knocked through a Window and a Man and Child Injured.

Special correspondence of Daily News.

VAIL, PA., November 25, '85.

A startling and quite serious accident occurred on Tuesday night in Philipsburg, between 8:30 and 9 o'clock. The storm was raging outside while within the home of Mr. W. M. Ferguson's in that place all was peaceful and comfortable. On one side of the table sat Mrs. Ferguson with the baby in her arms, and on the other side was Mr. F. He was engaged at the always dangerous work of filling a cartridge shell with powder. But he did not realize the danger which lurked within it. Some say that the lamp on the table exploded, but that theory is probably not correct. Doubtless something caused the powder to explode, and in an instant the scene of peace was changed into one of disorder and excitement. The contents of the room were sent in directions and the entire house was shattered. The three occupants of the room were severely injured. The window was blown out and Mrs. Ferguson blown through it and into a ditch outside. Mr. Ferguson and the baby were painfully burned and otherwise injured, although it is believed that all the sufferers will recover. Mrs. Ferguson's burns are principally on the breast and hands, while her husband's are on his face. Much excitement was caused in the neighborhood. Surgical aid arrived speedily and their injuries were attended to.

BALD EAGLE.

An Eloquent Temperance Appeal.

WRITTEN BY A LADY RESIDING IN UNIONVILLE.

Some men say, We never get drunk, but we dont mind taking a glass sometimes. You know one gets laughed at for being odd." Ah, men that you are, be manly. Never be afraid to stand alone when in the right, else, you are weaker than the little child that has just learned to maintain its equilibrium. Abstain from all poisonous stimulants for then and then only are you safe. Remember, the moderate drinker oft yields to his increasing thirst and fills a drunkard's grave. And why, we ask, will man, of whom it is written "was created a little lower than the angels," tamper with that which not only ruins his soul and body, brings unspeakable misery upon those to whom he is united by the most sacred ties; but leaves its dire impress upon successive generations?

Think of the crimes committed, of the homes rendered desolate, of the hearts broken; of earth's fairest buds blighted, by the effect of the monster rum; and, resolve (ere the departing year is numbered with the things that were,) that you will forever free yourself from its maddening influence; that if others still persist in pursuing their downward path you will not heed their scoff and taunts but stand firm as the everlasting hills; ever remembering that "Vengance is mine and I will repay, saith the Lord."

By so doing you will ennoble and fit yourself for life's duties, and pave the way to a glorious existence beyond the tomb.

E.

Only a Few of Them.

In the Presbyterian church, on Sunday morning. Rev. William Laurie took for his text the 22d, 23d, 24th and 25th verses of the 5th chapter of II Samuel, particularly the clause in the 24th verse which reads, "And let it be, when thou hearest the sound of a going in the tops of the mulberry trees, that thou shalt bestir thyself." It was a sermon giving special emphasis to the necessity for work. His evening sermon was based on the text in II Corinthians 5:7 "For we walk by faith, not by sight."

In the Methodist church the pastor preached on Sunday morning from II Corinthians, 5th chap., 10th verse.

Rev. Chas. Steck occupied his pulpit both morning and evening. In the morning his discourse was based on the words, "He saith unto him the second time. Simon, son of Jonas, lovest thou me?" Look at your Bibles and you will see these words in John 21:16. His evening sermon is spoken of as one of his best. His text was a clause of Ecclesiastes 9:3, "Madness is in their heart."

In Memoriam.

WHEREAS, Death has entered Bald Eagle Grange, No. 151, and removed from among us our esteemed and faithful brother, Mr. Edward D. Johnston, therefore

Resolved. That we tender our sincere sympathy and condolence to the afflicted family, who are now left both motherless and fatherless.

Resolved. That in Brother Johnston's demise, the Grange has been deprived of a most excellent and honorable member, whose usefulness was so marked that his removal cannot fail to be deeply felt and lamented.

Resolved. That the charter be draped in mourning for thirty days, and that the above resolutions be printed in the Democratic Watchman and Bellefonte Republican, and also in the Farmers Friend.

—A correspondent writes: "An interesting revival of religion is in progress at Olivia, conducted by the Rev. Chas. A. Biddle. It is the most successful religious awakening which has occurred at Olivia for ten years. The converts are principally young people."

Personal Penchings.

Mr James Passmore, of Philipsburg, was in Bellefonte Monday.

Mrs. D. H. Hastings and her daughter, Miss Helen, are in Lock Haven.

Mrs. Orvis, wife of ex-Judge Jno. Orvis, is visiting friends in Lock Haven.

Mr. and Mrs. William Wolf, of Centre Hall, are visiting in Williamsport.

Mrs P. B. Stover, of Pleasant Valley, Kansas, is visiting friends in Pennsvalley.

Mr. William Jenkins came home Saturday evening from a trip to Philadelphia.

Rev Mac. Rishel, a methodist minister from Mifflin county, is visiting friends in Centre Hall.

Mr. J. C. Weaver is away from home again this week. On Monday he was heard from in Williamsport.

D. S. Keller, Esq., has sufficiently recovered from his recent serious illness to appear on the street again.

Miss Susie Jack, of Boalsburg, was one of the fairest and most vivacious young ladies in Bellefonte Saturday.

Gen. W. H. Blair and D. F. Fortney, Esq., have been in Harrisburg for several days on important legal business.

Mr. and Mrs. John Ardell, of East Linn street, entertained a company of their neighbors at tea on Thursday evening. It was a pleasant occasion.

Stuart Rogers, unlike most reciters and impersonators, wears his hair cut short, which renders his ability to change his appearance all the more marked.

Rev. Chas. T. Steck will deliver his lecture, "The Hero, Recognized and Unrecognized," before the Clinton county teachers' institute this (Thursday) evening.

"Mrs. W. C. Smith was called to Philipsburg yesterday by a telegram announcing the serious illness of her mother," said the Lock Haven Express of Saturday.

Rev. M. L. Deitzler and wife, of Aaronsburg, are in Mifflinburg this week, attending conference. Before returning home, Mrs. Deitzler will visit friends in Snyder county.

Mr. Jacob Bridge, who lives in the vicinity of Jacksonville, pleased us with a visit last Saturday. Mr. Bridge never has time to tarry long as he has a great deal of business to look after; but his brief visits are always welcome.

Dr. Theo. S. Christ, one of the representative citizens of Lemont—which, by the way, is the home of an unusual number of prominent people—was in Bellefonte on Saturday. The Doctor is a pleasant gentleman and an entertaining conversationalist.

Miss Gertie Bennison, a charming young lady from Lamar, Clinton county, spent Wednesday with her aunt, Mrs. Hillibish, on Thomas street. Miss Bennison is on her return from an extended visit to Chautauqua, Niagara Falls, Canada and Washington, Pa.

—A dispatch from DuBois relates a very horrible occurrence which took place on Sunday night six miles from that place at Summit Tunnel on the Allegheny Valley Railroad, as follows: "Two men were burned to death in a shanty, and a third narrowly escaped. The men had been drinking all day and lay down to sleep off the effects of the whiskey at night. One of them waked up at midnight, and, arising, upset the lamp. Wm. Piper, who lived alone in the shanty, escaped, but is in a critical condition. His visitors, James McGranor and Mr. Campbell, were cremated. Their remains were gathered together this morning and an inquest held, Justice Bowers acting as coroner. McGranor and Piper each have grown families. Campbell had no relatives, but was a veteran in the late war."

—That Washington, D. C., dispatch which tells about Nelson Lucas finding a petrified boot reads as follows: "Nelson Lucas, of the Interior Department, has just arrived in the city from his vacation in Pennsylvania. He brought with him a petrified boot with part of the leg broken off. It is supposed that the foot and part of the leg were petrified in the boot. The substance weighs seven pounds and was found near Bellefonte, Pa. Mr. Lucas will send it to the Smithsonian Institute or the National Museum."

—"We are going to have pie for dinner," said a Howard street boy, where the clergyman was calling this morning. "Indeed," inquired the minister, "what kind of pie?" "Why," said the boy, "it's a new kind. Ma was talking this morning about pa bringing you to dinner so often, and pa said he didn't care what she thought, and ma said she'd make him eat humble pie before the day was over—that's the kind we'll have for dinner, ain't you glad?"

MARRIED.
